U.S. Rejects Soviet Formula For Stopgap U.N. Secretary

Plan Maintains Idea Of 'Troika,' Stevenson Says

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The United States rejected Monday a Soviet formula for resolving the deadlock over the naming of a temporary U.N. secretary-general.

Delegates from the so-called nonaligned nations said they wanted more time to study the Soviet proposal. But there was increasing concern that without big power agreement there was little chance of speedily resolving the issue.

Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson, chief U.S. delegate, said the Soviet plan was not a real compromise and its adoption "would seriously undermine the integrity of the secretariat."

Under the Soviet plan the U.N. Security Council would recommend to the General Assembly the appointment of a man well-known in U.N. circles who would work in cooperation with three deputies now in the secretariat.

Stipulation Criticized

He would serve until April 1963, which would have been the expiration of the second five-year term held by Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold.

The Soviet Union declared it did not have in mind utilization of the veto by any of the deputies. But the Soviets added that the temporary U.N. head must maintain daily cooperation with the deputies and "must seek to achieve mutual agreement with them on the major questions of the work of the secretariat."

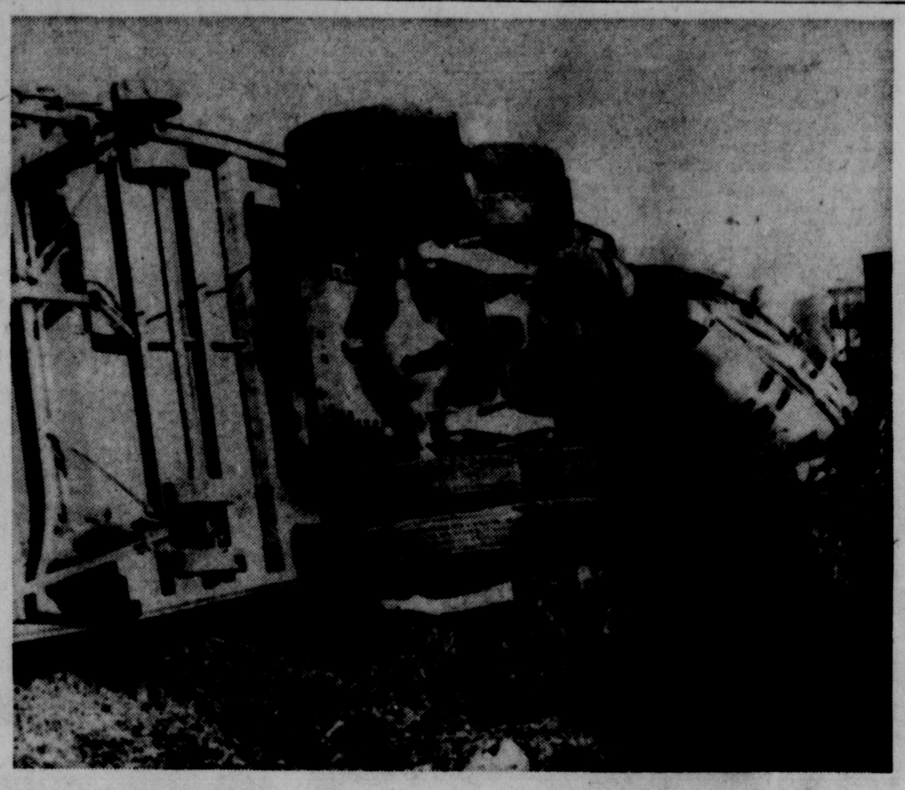

In apparent objection to this stipulation, Stevenson declared in a statement that the Soviet plan "maintains the idea of the troika —of dividing the world into three blocs. There is no such world and it would be contrary to the letter and spirit of the charter to introduce this concept into the United Nations."

Charter Provisions Cited

Stevenson said this amounted to introducing political representation into upper levels of the secretariat, in violation of charter provisions that stipulate its officials be selected on the basis of "efficiency, competence and integrity with due regard to geographical distribution."

Many representatives of the nonaligned nations said they wanted time to study the Soviet plan before commenting on it. One high-ranking diplomat said that no matter what stand these nations might take, no solution could be achieved without agreement among the big powers.

He said there was growing reluctance among candidates mentioned for temporary secretary-general to serve unless there was tacit agreement among the big powers to support the individual chosen.

Kennedy, Rusk Discuss Berlin, Other Problems

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy flew back from a New England holiday Monday and conferred immediately with Secretary of State Dean Rusk on the Berlin situation and other foreign affairs problems.

The White House said no announcement was expected on the outcome of the conference.

It was Kennedy's first meeting with Rusk since the secretary's New York talks with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko. The U.S. and Soviet Foreign Affairs chiefs have been seeking to determine if there is any common basis for a four-power conference on Germany and Berlin.

After being brought up to date on diplomatic matters, Kennedy arranged to review the latest defense developments Tuesday with his military chiefs.

The White House said the President will confer twice during the day with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. At the second conference, scheduled for Tuesday afternoon, McNamara and Lemnitzer will be accompanied by Gen. Lauris Norstad, supreme commander of allied forces in Europe.

At Monday's session, Kennedy and Rusk were expected to review the conversations thus far with Gromyko and to map strategy for future discussions.

The talks are shifting from New York to Washington this week and U.S. officials said it is safe to assume that Gromyko will call on Kennedy at some point during his stay here.

The expectation is that Rusk and Gromyko will hold a series of conferences with a White House meeting in between or at the end of the talks depending on Kennedy's schedule.

Flight Home Of Stranded 103 Delayed

SHANNON AIRPORT, Ireland (AP)—Down on their Irish luck, 103 stranded American air tourists were told Monday night they would have to spend at least one more reluctant night on the Old Sod.

Airport authorities announced that their chartered airliner—already five days behind schedule—would be held here at least until Tuesday for a thorough mechanical inspection. And the plane's pilot said he couldn't take off anyway because he lacked money.

The stranded Americans, members of the Irish-American Erin's Own Club of Chicago, already had spent five nightmarish nights and days in Shannon Aiport lounge—some sick, others just bone tired and all mostly broke. They left Chicago Aug. 24 for a month's vacation in Ireland—the first visit to the old homeland in years for many.

But five of the travelers had enough of the long wait for a plane home to Chicago. They took a scheduled airliner to the United States.

But the immediate future for the weary and travel-soiled tourist brightened somewhat.

The U.S. Embassy in Dublin offered to stake each of them to $50 and sent two senior representatives to care for their wants.

Airport authorities made arrangements for them to spend the night in hostels and local hotels —instead of on the chairs and floor of the airport lounge where most spent the past five nights.

U.S. Receives Syrian Request For Recognition

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department reported Monday that the breakaway Syrian regime has asked the United States for diplomatic recognition. The U.S. government was in no hurry to give it.

Washington policymakers believed there would be much to lose and little to gain by setting up formal diplomatic relations now with the new masters of Damascus.

State Department press officer Joseph W. Reap said he did not know when a decision might be reached on the Syrian request. It arrived in Washington Sunday through the American consul general at Damascus, Ridgway B. Knight.

The U.S. spokesman declined further comment, except to renounce as "absolute nonsense" suggestions in the government-controlled Cairo press that the United States had a hand in last week's revolt, in which the Syrian insurgents split away from President Gamal Abdel Nasser's United Arab Republic. U.S. officials figure the revolt was internally sparked by resentment against expanding Egyptian control.

U.S. strategists found impelling reasons for a go-slow policy on linking up with the new Syrian regime. Among the main factors:

—Not enough is known here about the new government—whether it will be democratic, how it will treat American and other foreign interests, who its real rulers are, or even whether it will be stable enough to survive.

—The United States wants to keep on good terms with Nasser, still a power in the Middle East who has kept a tight thumb on communism internally. Nasser showed his anger Monday at the first two countries to recognize the Damascus group—Jordan and Turkey—by breaking diplomatic relations.

—No big outside power can meddle overtly in Middle East politics without touching off a storm. The United States wants peace and stability there.

Tanker Abandoned After Explosion Sinks

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI)— An oil tanker, abandoned by its crew when an explosion ripped its bottom Sunday night eased into the depths of the Atlantic near here Monday before any salvage attempts could be made.

The S.S. Hess Mariner, carrying more than 100,000 barrels of oil, sank at 10:26 a.m. EST about 100 miles east - northeast of here, the Coast Guard said. An explosion in the engine room at 7:50 p.m. Sunday ripped a hole in the 523-hole vessel.

High Court To Begin, End Public Sessions Earlier

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court began its new fall term Monday with the announcement of the first change in its public sessions schedule since 1898.

Chief Justice Earl Warren announced that beginning with the court's session next Monday, the nine justices will take their places at 10 a.m. and sit until noon. They will then recess for lunch, returning to the bench at 12:30 p.m., and sitting until 2:30 p.m.

For 63 years the court has met at noon, gone to lunch at 2 p.m., then sat from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m.

Warren gave no reason for the change.

The new hours will permit the justices to clean up their afternoon office work earlier on court days, give them time late in the day for closed conferences after hearing arguments on appeals, and give lawyers more time for out-of-court work.

All nine justices, looking refreshed after vacations, stepped to the high bench at noon Monday for the first time since June 19. Smiles and nods of recognition went to lawyers and other spectators in a courtroom, not as jampacked as usual on opening day.

The new term's first session lasted only 13 minutes, most of this being used for admission of 38 lawyers to practice.

As the jurists gathered, a record-breaking 1,050 cases jammed the court's dockets.

The heavy file of cases awaiting Supreme Court action includes an unusually large number of appeals involving rights of Negroes.

Action Is Postponed On U.N. Applications

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The Security Council postponed action Monday on the membership applications of Mauritania and Outer Mongolia to allow time for negotiations to avoid vetoes if possible.

No one expected either country to be admitted very soon and there was no opposition to the delay. The council must recommend new members before the General Assembly can vote on them.

Liberian Delegate Christie Doe proposed the postponement after the Soviet Union sought to have the application of Outer Mongolia taken up ahead of Mauritania.

Ford, Union In Last-Ditch Negotiations

All-Night Session Looms; Strike Set 10 A.M. EST Today

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. and the United Auto Workers headed into an all-night bargaining session Monday with a strike deadline for 120,000 Ford production workers only a few hours away.

Negotiations resumed at midmorning after sessions over the weekend. Spokesmen for both sides expressed belief the marathon talks would go right up to the hour set for strike action — 10 a.m., EST, Tuesday.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther, who had previously reached contract settlements with General Motors and American Motors, headed the union bargaining team in the final hours of talks.

News Blackout Imposed

Malcolm Denise, a Ford vice president and chief negotiator for the company, said some 22 hours before the strike deadline, "I'd be misleading you if I didn't say there are a number of serious issues still confronting us that seem to be holding us apart."

The two sides, by mutual consent, had imposed a news blackout on the developments at the bargaining table.

Usually well-informed sources said, however, that both the company and union had given a little on some noneconomic issues under discussion. These involve such things as work standards, workers' seniority and a union desire for a say-so in location of any new Ford plants.

In contrast with its strategy at General Motors where the UAW early granted its GM locals the right to strike if their local contract problems were not settled, the UAW cautioned its local-level Ford workers against any premature strike action.

Local Deadline To Follow

If a national Ford agreement is reached by the strike deadline, the UAW said "another deadline will then be immediately established for settlement of unresolved local union demands."

UAW leaders told the 85 Ford bargaining units across the nation to stand by for strike-or-no-strike instructions between 2 a.m. and 4 a.m. Tuesday.

Some 46 of Ford's 85 bargaining units still had not resolved their local demands.

Chief among the unsettled were the 17 bargaining units at the huge Ford plant in Dearborn, Mich., where 30,000 workers are employed.

Atlas Missile Spans Atlantic

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) —An Atlas missile spanned the Atlantic in 30 minutes Monday in a successful test that hinted of U.S. plans to explore space with atomic power.

The Atlas, an advanced model powered by the mightiest rocket engines yet flown in the free world, hurled a small nose cone loaded with a dummy warhead of instruments 5,000 miles from this huge space center.

Preliminary information radioed from the rocket as it soared more than 600 miles into space at a speed of 17,000 miles per hour indicated the shot achieved its three primary aims:

—To simulate what might happen to radioactive fuel in a nuclear - powered satellite generator when it returned through earth's atmosphere.

—To make the first flight test of a new guidance system slated for use in America's Centaur rocket, an upper-stage assembly whose increased power will give the nation the ability to begin shoving sizeable payloads deep into space within a year or so.

—And to see whether a nose cone built specifically for one type of intercontinental ballistic missile can fly successfully aboard another.

Rains From Frances Drench Puerto Rico

MIAMI (UPI) —Tropical storm Frances drenched southern Puerto Rico with heavy rains Monday, causing floods in some areas, but weathermen said the howling storm might be weakening as it swept across the Caribbean.

The San Juan, P.R., Weather Bureau discontinued a hurricane watch for Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands. But the watch was still in effect for the Dominican Republic.

De Gaulle Plans Algeria Regime To Direct Vote

NIXON 'EMISSARY'? — J. Howard Edgerton (above), a Los Angeles financier, said in Los Angeles yesterday he believes he is the man former Calif. Gov. Goodwin J. Knight plans to name as being a supporter of former Vice President Richard Nixon whom Knight claims tried to lure him out of the race for California governor in 1962. Knight, opposing Nixon for the Republican nomination, says an emissary offered him a high state job if he would not enter the race. Edgerton says he has never been a Nixon emissary. (AP Photofax)

Own Security Force Would Be Organized

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle told the nation Monday night he plans to create a provisional Algerian government with its own security force to conduct a long-deferred referendum on Algeria's future.

In a nationwide radio-TV address, De Gaulle also:

—Appealed to the Algerian Rebel National Liberation Front to participate in the provisional regime pending the referendum.

—Expressed belief the Algerians undoubtedly will choose an independent Algerian state.

—Urged Algeria's European population to swallow its bitterness and cooperate in the establishment of a free Algeria closely associated with France.

Speech Sabotaged In Algeria

—Warned his political critics he will not hesitate to invoke emergency powers again to rule by decree if parliamentary opposition threatens the nation with chaos. De Gaulle Saturday gave up special emergency powers he had assumed during the generals' revolt in Algeria last April.

In Oran, Algeria, an explosion interrupted TV transmission a few minutes before De Gaulle's speech was to be carried. The speech was carried normally in Algiers. Several times previously TV and radio have been cut off in Algeria with explosive charges set by the anti-Gaullist secret army organization.

50,000 Man-Force

The president said he plans to begin organizing a "strictly Algerian" security force immediately. He did not spell out what he meant by such a force but De Gaulle recently told a meeting of Socialist party leaders it would total about 50,000 men.

There were unconfirmed reports it would be selected from the French army's militia-style Algerian auxiliaries. The force presumably would be used for maintaining law and order in any transitional period.

The French leader mentioned the dangers of the world and European situation swirling about France, but concentrated his attention on the Algerian issue.

Banker Expects Knight To Name Him As "Mr. X"

LOS ANGELES (UPI) —Banker J. Howard Edgerton said Monday he "would be surprised" if Goodwin J. Knight did not identify him as an emissary of Richard M. Nixon who purportedly offered a deal if Knight stayed out of the 1962 governor's race.

"The only statement I'll make at this time," said Edgerton, "is that I have never been an emissary of Dick Nixon on any matter in my entire life."

Edgerton, a former Knight financial chairman, is president of the California Federal Savings and Loan Association and the 6th District Agricultural Association. He has long been active in behalf of the Republican party.

Knight said last week an emissary of Nixon telephoned him Sept. 7 to offer "any state job up to chief justice" to stay out of the running in 1962. Nixon flatly denied the claim.

Knight now has scheduled an 11 a.m. press conference at his office Wednesday to disclose identity of the "emissary."

Asked by reporters if Knight would name him as the emissary, Edgerton replied:

"I would be surprised if he didn't."

Also asked if he had telephoned Knight Sept. 7, Edgerton said, "If I answered one question, it leads to another."

He said he would not comment further until Knight makes his announcement.

Plastics Plant Blast Kills Four

DETROIT (UPI)—Four persons were killed and nine others were injured Monday when an explosion ripped a small plastics firm several blocks from downtown Detroit.

The blast, which apparently originated in a gas-operated steam boiler, blew out the rear of the 90 by 120 foot single story cement block building and touched off a two-alarm fire.

Three of the victims were women and the fourth was a man whose body had not been removed from the rubble four hours after the explosion.

Police identified the dead persons as Joanne Watson, about 20, Omega C. Travis, 44, and Olga Yeftech, 30, all of Detroit, and Jerry L. Webster, about 23, Lincoln Park. They were employes of Sparling Plastics Industries Inc.

Chairman Of FTC Urges Stiff Antitrust Penalties

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman Paul Rand Dixon of the Federal Trade Commission strongly backed heavier fines and mandatory jail sentences Monday for repeated offenders under the nation's antitrust laws.

He also endorsed proposed legislation that would require bidders for government contracts to submit sworn statements denying any collusion was involved.

Dixon took his stand at the renewal of hearings before the Senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee on five bills designed to tighten antitrust laws and impose tougher penalties.

He expressed qualified approval of the package and specifically endorsed one bill that would make top officials responsible for antitrust activities of subordinates. They would be subject to a maximum $100,000 fine and imprisonment up to a year for second and subsequent offenses.

"It makes your shirttail run up and down your back. You wonder what in the world is wrong with these people," he said in protesting mild sentences handed down by some judges in the past.

At another point he emphasized that existing laws should be tightened unless, as he stated it, "Congress wants to sit on its duster" and pass no legislation at all.

Only Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., subcommittee chairman and author of four of the five bills, and Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., were present. Hruska contended added safeguards were needed to prevent "guilt by association" in the measure holding top officials responsible for antitrust actions of subordinates.

"Strongman" Under Arrest At Damascus

Cairo Broadcasts Urge Syrians Rise Against New Regime

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)— Syria's new government launched a mass deportation of Egyptians Monday and announced the arrest of a Syrian strongman who until recently was vice president in the United Arab Republic.

The jailed strongman is Col. Abdul Hamid Serraj. He quit his Cairo job for some unannounced reason. He returned to Damascus only 48 hours before the outbreak Thursday of the army revolt that broke the Syrian-Egyptian union of 1958 that he had helped to promote.

A broadcast communique said Serraj was arrested at a Damascus hideout Sunday night. He was accused of carrying out subversion against Premier Mamoun Kuzbari's revolutionary government.

U. S. Linked To Revolt

From Egypt came bitter attacks against Kuzbari's conservative regime as a reactionary administration of exploiters and capitalists. There was a veiled charge in the government-owned Cairo press that the United States was somehow behind the uprising. Cairo broadcasts urged the Syrians to rise against the revolutionary movement.

President Gamal Abdel Nasser told a student rally at Cairo University, "We are facing the most serious position which ever faced our nation" and it may turn into a catastrophe.

"But we might be able to turn it into a forward driving force to destroy reaction in all the Arab nation (sphere)," he said. "I must tell you that Arab nationalism has suffered a setback, a stab, a shock and treason."

Bitter, too, were hundreds of Egyptians bundled out of Syria to take ship at Beirut for home. The first of several-thousand Egyptians, military and civilian, to be deported, they reached the Lebanese border town of Masna aboard taxis and buses with baggage piled high on the roofs.

Refugees Hail Nasser

"God bless Nasser," they shouted, some with an eye on cameramen gathered there to photograph the exodus. "Long live the United Arab Republic."

Damascus newspapers said the Egyptian population to be evacuated includes 700 school teachers, 56 physicians and Health Ministry employes and 50 employes of the Rural Affairs Ministry.

Nasser has friends also in some Syrian students and Palestine Arabs who flocked into Syria during the Arab-Israeli war of 1948 and are still there as refugees. A diplomat said these groups staged pro-Nasser demonstrations in Damascus during the weekend.

But Kuzbari counted on full support of his army to keep things in hand at home and sought further ties abroad. His regime has asked diplomatic recognition by the United States. A U.S. State Department spokesman disclosed the request was under study.

Iran extended recognition. Turkey, Jordan, Nationalist China and Guatemala are others that have recognized the regime.

Ribicoff Bans Phone Monitoring Gadgets

WASHINGTON (AP)—A ban on special gadgets to monitor telephone conversations in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare has been decreed by Abraham A. Ribicoff.

However, the secretary's directive, a copy of which was obtained by a reporter Monday, does allow a third party to listen in, if both parties to the conversation are advised.

The order makes no mention of it, but the House Government Operations Committee in a report last month said the department had more known special listening-in gadgets than any other of 37 government agencies covered in a study.

Ford, Union In Last-Ditch Negotiations

All-Night Session Looms; Strike Set 10 A.M. EST Today

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. and the United Auto Workers headed into an all-night bargaining session Monday with a strike deadline for 120,000 Ford production workers only a few hours away.

Negotiations resumed at mid-morning after sessions over the weekend. Spokesmen for both sides expressed belief the marathon talks would go right up to the hour set for strike action — 10 a.m., EST, Tuesday.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther, who had previously reached contract settlements with General Motors and American Motors, headed the union bargaining team in the final hours of talks.

News Blackout Imposed

Malcolm Denise, a Ford vice president and chief negotiator for the company, said some 22 hours before the strike deadline, "I'd be misleading you if I didn't say there are a number of serious issues still confronting us that seem to be holding us apart."

The two sides, by mutual consent, had imposed a news blackout on the developments at the bargaining table.

Usually well-informed sources said, however, that both the company and union had given a little on some noneconomic issues under discussion. These involve such things as work standards, workers' seniority and a union desire for a say-so in location of any new Ford plants.

In contrast with its strategy at General Motors where the UAW early granted its GM locals the right to strike if their local contract problems were not settled, the UAW cautioned its local-level Ford workers against any premature strike action.

Local Deadline To Follow

If a national Ford agreement is reached by the strike deadline, the UAW said "another deadline will then be immediately established for settlement of unresolved local union demands."

UAW leaders told the 85 Ford bargaining units across the nation to stand by for strike-or-no-strike instructions between 2 a.m. and 4 a.m. Tuesday.

Some 46 of Ford's 85 bargaining units still had not resolved their local demands.

Chief among the unsettled were the 17 bargaining units at the huge Ford plant in Dearborn, Mich., where 30,000 workers are employed.

Atlas Missile Spans Atlantic

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) —An Atlas missile spanned the Atlantic in 30 minutes Monday in a successful test that hinted of U.S. plans to explore space with atomic power.

The Atlas, an advanced model powered by the mightiest rocket engines yet flown in the free world, hurled a small nose cone loaded with a dummy warhead of instruments 5,000 miles from this huge space center.

Preliminary information radioed from the rocket as it soared more than 600 miles into space at a speed of 17,000 miles per hour indicated the shot achieved its three primary aims:

—To simulate what might happen to radioactive fuel in a nuclear - powered satellite generator when it returned through earth's atmosphere.

—To make the first flight test of a new guidance system slated for use in America's Centaur rocket, an upper-stage assembly whose increased power will give the nation the ability to begin shoving sizeable payloads deep into space within a year or so.

—And to see whether a nose cone built specifically for one type of intercontinental ballistic missile can fly successfully aboard another.

Rains From Frances Drench Puerto Rico

MIAMI (UPI) —Tropical storm Frances drenched southern Puerto Rico with heavy rains Monday, causing floods in some areas, but weathermen said the howling storm might be weakening as it swept across the Caribbean.

The San Juan, P.R., Weather Bureau discontinued a hurricane watch for Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands. But the watch was still in effect for the Dominican Republic.

De Gaulle Plans Algeria Regime To Direct Vote

NIXON 'EMISSARY'? — J. Howard Edgerton (above), a Los Angeles financier, said in Los Angeles yesterday he believes he is the man former Calif. Gov. Goodwin J. Knight plans to name as being a supporter of former Vice President Richard Nixon whom Knight claims tried to lure him out of the race for California governor in 1962. Knight, opposing Nixon for the Republican nomination, says an emissary offered him a high state job if he would not enter the race. Edgerton says he has never been a Nixon emissary. (AP Photofax)

Own Security Force Would Be Organized

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle told the nation Monday night he plans to create a provisional Algerian government with its own security force to conduct a long-deferred referendum on Algeria's future.

In a nationwide radio-TV address, De Gaulle also:

—Appealed to the Algerian Rebel National Liberation Front to participate in the provisional regime pending the referendum.

—Expressed belief the Algerians undoubtedly will choose an independent Algerian state.

Speech Sabotaged In Algeria

—Warned his political critics he will not hesitate to invoke emergency powers again to rule by decree if parliamentary opposition threatens the nation with chaos. De Gaulle Saturday gave up special emergency powers he had assumed during the generals' revolt in Algeria last April.

In Oran, Algeria, an explosion interrupted TV transmission a few minutes before De Gaulle's speech was to be carried. The speech was carried normally in Algiers. Several times previously TV and radio have been cut off in Algeria with explosive charges set by the anti-Gaullist secret army organization.

50,000 Man-Force

The president said he plans to begin organizing a "strictly Algerian" security force immediately. He did not spell out what he meant by such a force but De Gaulle recently told a meeting of Socialist party leaders it would total about 50,000 men.

There were unconfirmed reports it would be selected from the French army's militia-style Algerian auxiliaries. The force presumably would be used for maintaining law and order in any transitional period.

The French leader mentioned the dangers of the world and European situation swirling about France, but concentrated his attention on the Algerian issue.

Banker Expects Knight To Name Him As "Mr. X"

LOS ANGELES (UPI) —Banker J. Howard Edgerton said Monday he "would be surprised" if Goodwin J. Knight did not identify him as an emissary of Richard M. Nixon who purportedly offered a deal if Knight stayed out of the 1962 governor's race.

"The only statement I'll make at this time," said Edgerton, "is that I have never been an emissary of Dick Nixon on any matter in my entire life."

Edgerton, a former Knight financial chairman, is president of the California Federal Savings and Loan Association and the 6th District Agricultural Association. He has long been active in behalf of the Republican party.

Knight said last week an emissary of Nixon telephoned him Sept. 7 to offer "any state job up to chief justice" to stay out of the running in 1962. Nixon flatly denied the claim.

Knight now has scheduled an 11 a.m. press conference at his office Wednesday to disclose identity of the "emissary."

Asked by reporters if Knight would name him as the emissary, Edgerton replied:

"I would be surprised if he didn't."

Also asked if he had telephoned Knight Sept. 7, Edgerton said, "If I answered one question, it leads to another."

He said he would not comment further until Knight makes his announcement.

Plastics Plant Blast Kills Four

DETROIT (UPI)—Four persons were killed and nine others were injured Monday when an explosion ripped a small plastics firm several blocks from downtown Detroit.

The blast, which apparently originated in a gas-operated steam boiler, blew out the rear of the 90 by 120 foot single story cement block building and touched off a two-alarm fire.

Three of the victims were women and the fourth was a man whose body had not been removed from the rubble four hours after the explosion.

Police identified the dead persons as Joanne Watson, about 20, Omega C. Travis, 44, and Olga Yeftech, 30, all of Detroit, and Jerry L. Webster, about 23, Lincoln Park. They were employes of Sparling Plastics Industries Inc.

Chairman Of FTC Urges Stiff Antitrust Penalties

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman Paul Rand Dixon of the Federal Trade Commission strongly backed heavier fines and mandatory jail sentences Monday for repeated offenders under the nation's antitrust laws.

He also endorsed proposed legislation that would require bidders for government contracts to submit sworn statements denying any collusion was involved.

Dixon took his stand at the renewal of hearings before the Senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee on five bills designed to tighten antitrust laws and impose tougher penalties.

He expressed qualified approval of the package and specifically endorsed one bill that would make top officials responsible for antitrust activities of subordinates. They would be subject to a maximum $100,000 fine and imprisonment up to a year for second and subsequent offenses.

"It makes your shirttail run up and down your back. You wonder what in the world is wrong with these people," he said in protesting mild sentences handed down by some judges in the past.

At another point he emphasized that existing laws should be tightened unless, as he stated it, "Congress wants to sit on its duster" and pass no legislation at all.

Only Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., subcommittee chairman and author of four of the five bills, and Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., were present. Hruska contended added safeguards were needed to prevent "guilt by association" in the measure holding top officials responsible for antitrust actions of subordinates.

"Strongman" Under Arrest At Damascus

Cairo Broadcasts Urge Syrians Rise Against New Regime

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)— Syria's new government launched a mass deportation of Egyptians Monday and announced the arrest of a Syrian strongman who until recently was vice president in the United Arab Republic.

The jailed strongman is Col. Abdul Hamid Serraj. He quit his Cairo job for some unannounced reason. He returned to Damascus only 48 hours before the outbreak Thursday of the army revolt that broke the Syrian-Egyptian union of 1958 that he had helped to promote.

A broadcast communique said Serraj was arrested at a Damascus hideout Sunday night. He was accused of carrying out subversion against Premier Mamoun Kuzbari's revolutionary government.

U. S. Linked To Revolt

From Egypt came bitter attacks against Kuzbari's conservative regime as a reactionary administration of exploiters and capitalists. There was a veiled charge in the government-owned Cairo press that the United States was somehow behind the uprising. Cairo broadcasts urged the Syrians to rise against the revolutionary movement.

President Gamal Abdel Nasser told a student rally at Cairo University, "We are facing the most serious position which ever faced our nation" and it may turn into a catastrophe.

"But we might be able to turn it into a forward driving force to destroy reaction in all the Arab nation (sphere)," he said. "I must tell you that Arab nationalism has suffered a setback, a stab, a shock and treason."

Bitter, too, were hundreds of Egyptians bundled out of Syria to take ship at Beirut for home. The first of several-thousand Egyptians, military and civilian, to be deported, they reached the Lebanese border town of Masna aboard taxis and buses with baggage piled high on the roofs.

Refugees Hail Nasser

"God bless Nasser," they shouted, some with an eye on cameramen gathered there to photograph the exodus. "Long live the United Arab Republic."

Damascus newspapers said the Egyptian population to be evacuated includes 700 school teachers, 56 physicians and Health Ministry employes and 50 employes of the Rural Affairs Ministry.

Nasser has friends also in some Syrian students and Palestine Arabs who flocked into Syria during the Arab-Israeli war of 1948 and are still there as refugees. A diplomat said these groups staged pro-Nasser demonstrations in Damascus during the weekend.

But Kuzbari counted on full support of his army to keep things in hand at home and sought further ties abroad. His regime has asked diplomatic recognition by the United States. A U.S. State Department spokesman disclosed the request was under study.

Iran extended recognition. Turkey, Jordan, Nationalist China and Guatemala are others that have recognized the regime.

Ribicoff Bans Phone Monitoring Gadgets

WASHINGTON (AP)—A ban on special gadgets to monitor telephone conversations in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare has been decreed by Abraham A. Ribicoff.

However, the secretary's directive, a copy of which was obtained by a reporter Monday, does allow a third party to listen in, if both parties to the conversation are advised.

The order makes no mention of it, but the House Government Operations Committee in a report last month said the department had more known special listening-in gadgets than any other of 37 government agencies covered in a study.

Five Teenagers Killed When Train Hits Car

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — Five teenagers were killed Monday when their automobile was hit by a speeding passenger train.

All the dead were identified as Franklin Central High School students. One of them was a varsity football player.

They were Lenny Taylor, 14, Robert Altmeyer, 17, and his sister, Laure, 14, and Stephen Pratt, 16, and his sister, Nadine, 15.

Altmeyer was a regular guard on Franklin Central's grid team.

U. S. Pacifists March Outside Soviet Barracks

MOSCOW (AP) — American peace marchers demonstrated in front of a Soviet air force barracks outside Moscow Monday and had their first brush with regulations against taking photographs of military installations.

But it all ended on a peaceful note as the marchers continued their way toward Moscow, where they are due Tuesday afternoon.

"It was a heaven-sent opportunity to get our message out," said Bradford Lyttle of New York, one of the marchers. "We have made history by demonstrating in front of a Soviet barracks."

The marchers, who started from San Francisco last December, have crossed the United States and Europe preaching their doctrine that one of the big powers should begin disarmament alone and shame the others into following suit.

As they approached Moscow they passed a barracks and began marching with their banners, while passing out their standard leaflets. They have done this all across western Russia. All went well until they tried to photograph the demonstration in front of the barracks.

Two soldiers grabbed the photographer.

A major appeared and gave them a lecture about not photographing Soviet military installations.

They listened and Lyttle handed him a leaflet too, printed in Russian. The major let the march go on.

Goldberg Acts In Ship Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg appealed Monday to both sides in the spreading West Coast shipping strike to end their differences immediately. He said settlement is imperative.

In identical telegrams to Paul St. Sure, head of the Shipowner's Pacific Maritime Association, and to Capt. Robert Durkin, president of the striking Masters, Mates and Pilots Union, Goldberg proposed a new mediation session be held Wednesday.

He said a three-man panel will arrive in San Francisco late Tuesday and will arrange talks for the following day.

It will consist of Willard Wirtz, undersecretary of labor, William Simkin, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, and James Healy, member of President Kennedy's emergency board.

Talks in the wage and fringe benefit dispute collapsed last week shortly after expiration of an 80-day Taft-Hartley injunction that had halted maritime strikes on all three U.S. coasts. All but the West Coast dispute have now been settled. At least 25 West Coast ships have been tied up.

TAIPEI, Formosa (UPI)—National China announced Monday it has extended diplomatic recognition to the new Syrian regime.

Laborites Rap British Wage Freeze Policy

BLACKPOOL, England (AP)—The Labor party warned Prime Minister Harold Macmillan Monda, that continuation of the government wage-freeze policy would lead to the greatest industrial unrest in Britain since the general strike of 1926.

A resolution condemning the holddown on wages won unanimous approval at the opening of Labor's 60th annual conference. A parade of Laborites denounced the wage policy introduced during the summer by Selwyn Lloyd, chancellor of the exchequer, to protect the pound.

Frank Cousins, head of the giant Transport and General Workers Union, urged the government to think again about this matter. He declared his million-strong union would walk out in support of any small groups of government employes fighting the wage freeze.

"We are not willing to accept wage restraint in any form, shape or guise," he declared to a thunder of approval from the 1,226 delegates in the hall.

Chancellor of the Exchequer Lloyd champed down on most pay increases for public employes and urged leaders of private industry to do the same with their workers.

Lloyd instituted this policy as part of a broad program to support the value of the pound and to keep British goods from being overpriced on world markets.

In recent weeks the wage pause has produced mounting resentment among a broad section of British workers, including school teachers, who have staged one-day protest strikes.

City Planners Urged To Shift Emphasis To Schools And Education

BALTIMORE (AP)—City planners were urged Monday by a spokesman for the Ford Foundation to shift their emphasis from the "central business district" to schools and education.

Paul N. Ylvisaker, the foundation's director of public affairs program, said the United States is on a "nationwide jag . . . of improving it cities" and "ignoring the city's first job.

"The city's job first of all is education," he said. "The next step is to use the school rather than the central business district as the nucleus of urban renewal."

Ylvisaker was one of a series of educators, government officials and civic leaders who gave their views on urban renewal and other community problems at an all-day conference at Johns Hopkins University.

He told the several hundred conference participants that financing could be done through "already existing resources."

Ylvisaker noted that the country has a budget of $77 million for agricultural research and suggested that some of those funds should be channeled to more compelling work in the cities.

"Redesign your tax systems, before you redesign your buildings," he said.

Midwest Cities Back NYC Bid

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Mayors and civic leaders from more than a dozen cities testified Monday in support of New York Central's efforts to get into an Eastern railroad merger.

Mayor Jack Edwards of Marion, Ind., had originally favored the proposed two-way merger of Chesapeake & Ohio and Baltimore & Ohio, but told John L. Bradford, Interstate Commerce Commission examiner:

"A combination of the three would best serve Marion, since duplicate services would be eliminated."

NYC wants authority to gain control of the B.&O. either alone or with C.&O. However, NYC contends a merger of C.&O. and B.&O. would cut drastically into NYC freight traffic.

Mayor Ralph Tucker of Terre Haute, Ind., said the economic stability of his city depends heavily upon NYC fortunes.

Mayor Charles H. Boswell of Indianapolis and Mayor Leonard R. Davis of Granite City, Ill., agreed that any merger which would hurt NYC would also hurt their cities.

Similar testimony came from Mayor Ralph R. Ferguson of Anderson, Ind., and business representatives from East St. Louis, Danville, Champaign and Urbana, Ill.

Strength Peace Key, Navy Secretary Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Navy John B. Connally said Monday the current buildup of the armed forces is the nation's best guarantee of peace.

Speaking during commissioning ceremonies for the USS Robert F. Keller, a destroyer escort manned by naval reservists of this area, Connally said it is essential to maintain strength under current world conditions.

"It is the surest way to peace and security," he said.

Commissioning of the Keller took place at the Washington Naval Yards which were established on this date in 1799. The last ship commissioned here was the USS Pensacola, 100 years ago last month.

TFD Requests 2.6 Million

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The Tidewater Fisheries Department submitted Monday a proposed budget of $2,628,038 for next fiscal year, an increase of $778,354 over spending approved for the current year.

The requests were sent to state budget director James G. Rennie and are subject to later action by Gov. Tawes and the Legislature.

The bulk of the requested increase, $618,444, would go for stepping-up Maryland's oyster propagation program. Joseph H. Manning, department director, told Rennie the agency hopes to plant 7.6 million bushels of oyster shells and transplant one million bushels of seed oysters during the year.

All but about one million bushels of the shells would be dredged from beneath the bottom of Chesapeake Bay and planted in growing areas to catch a new set of baby oysters. The others would be obtained from packers. This program would be increased by 1.6 million bushels over the current fiscal year.

Soviet Explodes 16th Atom Bomb Of Series

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Russia Monday fired its 16th fallout producing atomic bomb in the current series, equalling the number detonated in its heavily radioactive 1958 experiments.

Monday's test over the Arctic island of Novya Zemlya had an explosive force equal to a million tons of TNT (megaton).

It exceeded by one the number of blasts in the megaton range set off in 1958, prior to the voluntary test suspension.

Prominent Negro Educator Dies

BALTIMORE (AP)—Dr. Willard W. Allen, prominent in Negro educational and Masonic circles, died Monday at Johns Hopkins Hospital after being ill for the past several years. He was 74.

Dr. Allen, founder of the Southern Life Insurance Co. and operator of a real estate business in Baltimore for 40 years, was admitted to the hospital two weeks ago after being confined to his home for several months.

He was a trustee of Morgan State College here for 20 years and held a similar position at Virginia Union University, Richmond, Va., for many years.

Dr. Allen served as grand master of the Maryland Prince Hall Grand Lodge of Masons for 38 years, in addition to holding other posts in the Masons.

Cabin Cruiser, Three Aboard, Found Adrift

BALTIMORE (AP) — A cabin cruiser with three persons aboard was found drifting on Middle River Monday by the Coast Guard, which launched a search after the boat failed to return to a pier Sunday night.

Other than being cold, those aboard the craft — John C. Holmquest, 28, his son, Mark, 5, and a friend, Kenneth C. Irvine, 36, all of nearby Middle River — were in good condition. the Coast Guard said.

Holmquest, owner of the boat, told investigators his engine overheated and he decided not to head for shore.

Telephone saves Myers family $19.40... helps keep Little League team on the ball

The Myers' son, Hudson, calls a Little League teammate to let him know the time to meet for practice.

We recently asked Mrs. H. Hudson Myers, Jr., of Lutherville, to keep a two-week "telephone diary" of her family's telephone calls. Our reason: to find out how much time, money and travel the telephone saves them.

At the end of two weeks, the totals in Mrs. Myers' diary showed their telephone saved 20 valuable hours, 210 miles of travel and $19.40.

The Myers' ten-year-old son, Hudson, found the phone pretty handy, too. He arranges the practice sessions for his Little League baseball team—a roundup job that would take hours without the telephone. He's a big telephone fan.

What would a telephone diary show in your home? You'd probably find, too, that your telephone does far more for you . . . than the small amount it costs.

Mayor Charles H. Boswell of Indianapolis and Mayor Leonard R. Davis of Granite City, Ill., agreed that any merger which would hurt NYC would also hurt their cities.

Similar testimony came from Mayor Ralph R. Ferguson of Anderson, Ind., and business representatives from East St. Louis, Danville, Champaign and Urbana, Ill.

Strength Peace Key, Navy Secretary Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Navy John B. Connally said Monday the current buildup of the armed forces is the nation's best guarantee of peace.

Speaking during commissioning ceremonies for the USS Robert F. Keller, a destroyer escort manned by naval reservists of this area, Connally said it is essential to maintain strength under current world conditions.

"It is the surest way to peace and security," he said.

Commissioning of the Keller took place at the Washington Naval Yards which were established on this date in 1799. The last ship commissioned here was the USS Pensacola, 100 years ago last month.

Soviet Explodes 16th Atom Bomb Of Series

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Russia Monday fired its 16th fallout producing atomic bomb in the current series, equalling the number detonated in its heavily radioactive 1958 experiments.

Monday's test over the Arctic island of Novya Zemlya had an explosive force equal to a million tons of TNT (megaton).

It exceeded by one the number of blasts in the megaton range set off in 1958, prior to the voluntary test suspension.

Telephone saves Myers family $19.40... helps keep Little League team on the ball

The Myers' son, Hudson, calls a Little League teammate to let him know the time to meet for practice.

We recently asked Mrs. H. Hudson Myers, Jr., of Lutherville, to keep a two-week "telephone diary" of her family's telephone calls. Our reason: to find out how much time, money and travel the telephone saves them.

At the end of two weeks, the totals in Mrs. Myers' diary showed their telephone saved 20 valuable hours, 210 miles of travel and $19.40.

The Myers' ten-year-old son, Hudson, found the phone pretty handy, too. He arranges the practice sessions for his Little League baseball team—a roundup job that would take hours without the telephone. He's a big telephone fan.

What would a telephone diary show in your home? You'd probably find, too, that your telephone does far more for you . . . than the small amount it costs.

Tawes Pledges Greater Traffic Safety Effort

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. J. Millard Tawes of Maryland pledged Monday continued efforts by his state for greater traffic efficiency and traffic safety in the Washington metropolitan area.

Tawes, in a speech for the 10th annual Commissioners' and Governor's Conference on metropolitan Washington traffic problems, said the conference is a fine example of community effort.

"The State of Maryland is proud to have had a part in this remarkable cooperative undertaking," he added. "It goes without saying that Maryland is ready and eager to continue in the effort.

"It is our wish and our purpose to work with you to achieve a greater uniformity of policy and procedures and a greater coordinatio of activities in the field of traffic efficiency and traffic safety."

Tawes is this year's winner of the Metropolitan Area Traffic Council's award for "distinguished service."

The one-day conference started late because of traffic problems on a rainy Washington area morning.

Problems listed as top priorities in a campaign for greater safety and better flow of traffic were discussed.

The list included consistent penalties for serious violations, more appearances in court rather than forfeiting of collateral, and uniformity for suspension or revocation of driver permits.

Among those participating in the panel discussions were H. L. Aitken, director of the District Department of Highways; Maj. M. M. Puncke, Maryland State Police and Lt. Thomas A. Rogato, of the Prince Georges County, Md., police department.

Tawes said it is "most discouraging at times to compare the small advancements we are able to make with the mighty effort we are making" in highway safety.

"Well, it is quite obvious that we cannot quit," he added. "The most hardened cynic could not fold his hands in dispair. As long as there is hope — and there is hope — we must continue the uphill struggle."

Tawes said it is too early to gauge the results of a Marylend program started two years ago to bring about greater highway safety.

"I do not hesitate in the least, however, to hazard he opinion that we are moving in the right direction — in the direction of an eventual payoff if we continue on the course we have taken."

Point System Helps Cut Traffic Fatalities

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. Tawes said Monday there was definite evidence that Maryland's driver point system helped reduce traffic fatalities during the first eight months of this year.

He said State Police statistics covering the period from Jan. 1 to Aug. 31 showed 3.3 persons were killed for each one million miles traveled, compared with 4.4 persons during the first eight months of 1960.

More than 9,000 Maryland motorists have had their driving privileges suspended or revoked since Jan. 1, the date the driver point system became effective, Tawes said.

The governor cited the statistics during a speech before the Commissioners' and Governors' Conference on Metropolitan Washington Traffic Problems meeting in the District of Columbia.

"As one who travels much by automobile, I enjoy a greater sense of security in knowing that these scoffaws, these potential killers, no longer are permitted to sit behind the steering wheel of a motor vehicle in my state," Tawes told the conference.

The governor said 4,323 drivers had their licenses revoked through Aug. 31, and 4,747 others had their licenses suspended.

Mothers Erect Traffic Signs

BETHESDA, Md. (AP) — Impatient with lack of action by Montgomery County officials, mothers living along Boxburn Drive have launched a do-it-yourself safety drive.

Their winding street, in the Bannockburn Heights area, is being used by many commuters as a short cut from River Road to MacArthur Boulevard.

Failing to get any action on their requests that the street be protected, the mothers have put up a series of homemade traffic signs along the route.

"Drive slow! Seven kids live here," reads one sign. Another tells motorists, "School bus stop. Drive like yours used it too."

The mothers also are preparing a pamphlet telling how many children live on the street, the difficulty they have getting to their school bus stops and why the children no longer can play in their own front yards.

"We are having the pamphlet mimeographed," said Mrs. Henry Riecken, mother of three. "We hope to station ourselves on the street one day soon, flag down every car during the rush hour and hand the drivers this material. We want to appeal to the conscience of every driver."

Meanwhile, husbands and fathers along the street, are drafting another appeal to the county to do something about the situation.

One Killed As Acid Truck, Tractor-Trailer Collide

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"He kept saying, 'I'll be all right,' but he was just fooling himself. There wasn't anything I could do."

Like someone recalling a nightmare, Glen B. Wallace described a collision Monday of a tractor-trailer and a tank truck carrying 5,000 gallons of sulfuric acid.

Richard L. Zeller of Washington, N.J., died as rescuers attempted to free him from his cab, where he was pinned for more than an hour. Zeller's helper, Michael T. Winters, 25, also of Washington, N.J., was freed and hospitalized in serious condition.

Wallace, also a truck driver, was following Zeller's tractor trailer when the accident occurred on U.S. 40 in suburban Baltimore County. About 1,000 gallons of the acid spilled, and traffic was blocked on the highway for nearly four hours before it could be washed away.

After hearing the crash, he braked his truck, Wallace said, and ran to the cab of Zeller's truck. "It was really a mess," he said from his bed at University Hospital.

"I just tried to make him (Zeller) comfortable," Wallace said, "until the wreckers arrived."

Wallace helped rescue the two trapped men, slicing off the cab roof with a hacksaw, and then lifting them out. He was given oxygen for inhalation of fumes from the exposed sulfuric acid, and was treated for arm burns.

The driver of the tank truck, Woodrow Taylor, 43, of Chester, Pa., also was hospitalized but his injuries were not believed serious.

Another fatality Monday was Miss Bessie Crandle, 83, of College Park, who was admitted to Warren Hospital in Laurel late Sunday after suffering a cut left hand in an accident on U.S. 29. Police said Miss Crandle's injury at first was not considered serious enough for hospital treatment. Later, however, she was taken to the hospital when she became ill, and died shortly afterward.

Accidents on Maryland highways claimed the lives of four other persons during the weekend, and a fifth man died in a Baltimore hospital Sunday from injuries he suffered last May 13.

Other victims were:

Joseph M. Balcavage, 16, of Newark, N.J., killed in a two-car collision Saturday on U.S. 40 near Elkton.

John Robert Monroe, 37, of Severna Park, Md., killed Saturday after he stepped off a bus on Maryland 2. An autopsy was ordered to determine the cause of death.

Billy Ray Brackett of Visalia, Calif., killed Friday night when his car overturned near Frederick.

Joseph John Crawford, about 20, of Philadelphia, a passenger killed in Brackett's car.

Robert Carpenter, 34, of Baltimore, who died at Montebello Hospital Sunday of injuries he received last May 13 when his car struck a train.

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The use of prison labor for cleaning duties at the Anne Arundel County Courthouse has been banned by order of the county's commissioners.

Six jail inmates, chosen among trustees serving for minor violations, had been detailed to the courthouse daily without guards.

However, reported Commissioner Louis A. Boehm, two trusties assigned to the job obtained liquor, became intoxicated and started a fight that took two county policemen to break up.

Boehm recommended the county hire permanent employes to do the work previously assigned to the prisoners.

BALTIMORE (AP) — A $2.4 million contract for development of a shipboard receiver for the Navy's transit satellite system has been awarded to the Johns Hopkins Applied Physics Laboratory.

The contract, awarded by the Westinghouse Electric Corp.'s electronic division, followed a study grant under which company designed parts of the receiver.

SALISBURY (AP) — The Associated Press Wirephoto Network has been extended to the Salisbury Times, the first installation of a wirephoto receiver on Maryland's Eastern Shore.

Installation of the equipment at the Times raised to six the number of cities receiving Associated Press pictures from around the worked on the Chesapeake link of The AP's Wirephoto network.

American farmers last year turned out 3 per cent more products with 3 per cent less labor than the year before, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Probers Hear Prison Officials

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — The Washington County Grand Jury investigating the Reformatory for Males at nearby Breathedsville heard from two prison officials and a state senator Monday.

Appearing before the panel for the second time were James A. Curran, state superintendent of prisons, and Clement J. Ferling, superintendent of the reformatory.

Sen. Edward O. Weant, D-Carroll, chairman of the legislative committee which investigated the reformatory last year, also testifide Monday.

Weant was asked to bring records of the committee concerning the probe, and Ferling was asked to supply correspondence relating to complaints about the reformatory, and the pay and hours of employes.

The grand jury probe was undertaken at the request of Circuit Judge D. K. McLaughlin.

The judge said the recent dismissal of Robert Clopper, assistant superintendent of the reformatory, was not to be an object of the investigation.

Cool And Wet Weather Due

By The Associated Press

Cool and damp fall weather is in store for Maryland for the next couple of days, the Weather Bureau forecasts. Temperatures this week may range to 3 degrees below normal.

A weak low pressure disturbance moving northward off the Atlantic Coast and a cold front moving eastward into the Allegheny Mountains brought overcast skies and rain to much of the state Monday.

Occasional rain Tuesday and Wednesday may total one-half inch, becoming somewhat heavier than fell in some sections Monday.

Temperatures will be on the cool side, the forecast said, ranging from the 50s in the mountains to the lower 70s in portions of the southeastern section. Most areas will have readings in the 60s, the Weather Bureau said.

Normal highs for this time of the year are 68 to 73 degrees. Normal lows are 49 to 55, except 40 in the mountains.

The world's highest dam—870 feet—is at Vajoint, Italy.

Long Issues Statement On City's Street Paving Plan

Street Commissioner John J. Long said yesterday that "We want to assure all citizens and property owners that all the streets for which the Mayor and Council has passed resurfacing ordinances have been recommended for such resurfacing by the city engineer and council cannot in the best interests of the city, and even the abutting property owners who are objecting, eliminate any street from the long-range street program."

Long had the prepared statement read near the end of a lengthy session yesterday and after the question of resurfacing of Bedford Street had been raised again. Last week, residents of Bedford Street opposed the resurfacing ordinance and said 95 per cent of those living there are opposed and do not want it. Council agreed to wait before asking bids on that particular street although the ordinance was passed.

Yesterday, Long asked City Engineer Charles h. Nuzum if he had changed his mind concerning Bedford. Nuzum replied "There is no change in my recommendation."

Water Commissioner G. Ray Light said he did not mean his statement as any reflection on the city engineer but that he drove over the Bedford Street area and while he does not know what is underneath, "It seems very smooth to me."

Long asked Light if he wanted to recommend the streets to be resurfaced and Light said he did not but did believe the program should be further analyzed. He also wanted to know who sets the priority for the streets to be resurfaced. Long replied that Nuzum did, but Light disagreed, pointing out that last week Nuzum had said one is not more important than the other.

Long again said "What streets do you want paved. That's all I'm asking?"

Light continued that there are streets on the list which need resurfacing more than Bedford. He said he had never yet voted against a resurfacing ordinance that Long proposed but felt the city is passing too many when it does not know if it has money available to do the work.

"Why continue if we do not know where the money is coming from?" Light asked. "Maybe we have been too free in passing these ordinances."

Referring to last week's Bedford Street discussion, Light said the people had a just complaint and that he saw his duty now to pay strict attention to the street situation.

He said he "felt bad" when the people asked a question concerning the street and its resurfacing and got no answer.

He said in his departments and others, the duty of the commissioner is to answer and he said to Long "If it is in your department it is your duty. Last week we waited for someone to answer and no one did."

Later in last week's meeting it was agreed to hold up bids until the situation was studied further.

Finance Commissioner Lucile Roeder said she believed council should be informed ahead of time on ordinances so that discussion could be held. Ordinances should not be brought up in council meeting until it has had a chance to study them, she added.

Long Issues Statement On City's Street Paving Plan

Street Commissioner John J. Long said yesterday that "We want to assure all citizens and property owners that all the streets for which the Mayor and Council has passed resurfacing ordinances have been recommended for such resurfacing by the city engineer and council cannot in the best interests of the city, and even the abutting property owners who are objecting, eliminate any street from the long-range street program."

Long had the prepared statement read near the end of a lengthy session yesterday and after the question of resurfacing of Bedford Street had been raised again. Last week, residents of Bedford Street opposed the resurfacing ordinance and said 95 per cent of those living there are opposed and do not want it. Council agreed to wait before asking bids on that particular street although the ordinance was passed.

Yesterday, Long asked City Engineer Charles K. Nuzum if he had changed his mind concerning Bedford. Nuzum replied "There is no change in my recommendation."

Water Commissioner G. Ray Light said he did not mean his statement as any reflection on the city engineer but that he drove over the Bedford Street area and while he does not know what is underneath, "It seems very smooth to me."

Long asked Light if he wanted to recommend the streets to be resurfaced and Light said he did not but did believe the program should be further analyzed. He also wanted to know who sets the priority for the streets to be resurfaced. Long replied that Nuzum did, but Light disagreed, pointing out that last week Nuzum had said one is not more important than the other.

Long again said "What streets do you want paved. That's all I'm asking?"

Light continued that there are streets on the list which need resurfacing more than Bedford. He said he had never yet voted against a resurfacing ordinance that Long proposed but felt the city is passing too many when it does not know if it has money available to do the work.

"Why continue if we do not know where the money is coming from?" Light asked. "Maybe we have been too free in passing these ordinances."

Referring to last week's Bedford Street discussion, Light said the people had a just complaint and that he saw his duty now to pay strict attention to the street situation.

He said he "felt bad" when the people asked a question concerning the street and its resurfacing and got no answer.

He said in his departments and others, the duty of the commissioner is to answer and he said to Long "If it is in your department it is your duty. Last week we waited for someone to answer and no one did."

Later in last week's meeting it was agreed to hold up bids until the situation was studied further.

Finance Commissioner Lucile Roeder said she believed council should be informed ahead of time on ordinances so that discussion could be held. Ordinances should not be brought up in council meeting until it has had a chance to study them, she added.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—Judy Garland is over the Rainbow and way up high again, but with her concerts doing SRO business and her role in "Judgment at Nuremberg" a standout. Her news this morning is that she has signed to star in "The Lonely Stage" to be made in London early next spring. It's a original story by Robert Dozier that sounds a bit like Judy's own life, the poignant drama of a stage star whose private life never matches her professional success.

Ronald Neame, director of "Tunes of Glory," will put Judy through her dramatic paces, which will include some new and some old standard songs, and it is the hope of Stuart Millar and Lawrence Turman, the producers for United Artists, that they can snare either Laurence Olivier or Peter Sellers to play opposite Judy.

Wesley Ruggles Jr. and Tim Whelan, Jr., both of whom I knew when they wore three cornered pants and their dads were among Hollywood's most distinguished directors, have returned from Hong Kong, feeling pretty proud of themselves, and I don't blame them.

All on their own in the colorful oriental city, the boys produced and directed "Out of The Tiger's Mouth," which I'm told is a real thriller. What's more, they brought out of that beleaguered city five year old Loretta Hwong, the little star of their movie, and talented daughter of Lisa Lu, Chinese actress who was so good in "Cry for Happy." Lisa had been frantic about the child since news that the cholera epidemic raging in Red China got out to the Western world.

Kathy Grant Crosby flies in this morning (Tuesday) to prepare for the early November arrival of the third new nursery occupant, while bingo continues to wrap up "The Road to Hong Kong" in London. But he'll be here to greet the stork and that's the for-sure card.

When it comes to picking up some spare change, the first project Bing will tackle will be launching Vince Edwards for his projects records co.

Yes, this is the same Vince Edwards, who was brought out here as an actor, about ten years back by Columbia, and who is currently co-starring in the new TV series, "Ben Casey." But only Bing, listening to Vince's speaking voice, got the idea that he could sing. Or, it is just little subtleties like this that have made Mr. C. a few millions.

Those of us who have met John McCone are delighted that he has been appointed by President Kennedy to head the C.I.A. (Central Intelligence Agency).

I first met Mr McCone at a dinner party Irene Dunne gave in honor of him and his wife and Claire Booth Luce, and I was impressed by the personable McCone who was so well-informed on all current affairs.

Irene said that he was the first man she met when she came to California, long before he was married, and she thinks it's a fine honor for him, and one he will dispatch with ease and greatness.

You can practically hear those wedding bells tuning up all the way from London for Director Jack Clayton and Israeli actress Haya Harareet, femme star of "Ben-Hur." Haya has followed Jack to England, but before she left Hollywood, she confided to a close friend that Jack is expecting her to marry him - and she's ready.

He had to rush ahead on a film commitment, but Haya's remark indicates that at last Clayton's divorce problems have been solved. He's been in love with the pretty dark-eyed actress for some time.

The name of James Garner, the former Mr. Maverick, looms importantly on the Mirisch Brothers program. They have him for three motion pictures. One of them, of course, is "Children's Hour" and the second one will, most likely, be "The Great Escape," to be directed by John Sturgis.

The story of "The Great Escape" is a true one, and one so fantastic it's almost impossible to believe. It's a story of American and British airmen during World War II who were in concentration camps in Germany. They were all trouble makers, as far as the Nazis were concerned, so they were all put in one camp and given special guard. They got together, made German uniforms, and escaped.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I noted a letter in your column recently knocking palmistry and tea-leaf reading. Why don't you stick to teen-age monsters, wife-beaters and peanut-brain housewives?

I've been practicing these sciences for many years and I have profited handsomely. I was married twice and both would have been catastrophic had I attempted to keep them together. The leaves told me to get out and I did.

By reading my own palm I was able to extricate myself from a business venture after losing only $2,000. Had I continued (as the financial experts advised) I would have lost a great deal more.

Why not admit that certain fields are too much for you instead of pretending to know everything? — MADAME Z

DEAR MADAME Z.: Why didn't you check with the leaves and read your palm BEFORE you married the two beauts and BEFORE you landed in that not-so-hot business deal?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Is it true that when liquor goes in — the truth comes out?

I'm seeing a man who, on the fourth drink begins to talk about what a wonderful wife I'd make, how happy we'd be together, how cute our children would be, and how we were really meant for each other. When there is no liquor around he tells me how much money he owes, how his mother depends on him for every little thing, how uncertain his job is and suggests that I look around for a nice fellow who could offer me marriage and security.

I'm ashamed to admit that I've been going with this man for almost five years. Which is the REAL Egbert — the drunk one or the sober one? — D.L.

DEAR D.L.: What difference does it make? You wouldn't want the drunken Egbert and the sober Egbert doesn't want YOU.

A man who must get slopped to the eyeballs before he can talk about marriage is sick. Send him a get-well card—then take his advice.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: When I was 15 I made the biggest mistake a girl can make. My family sent me to a home for unwed mothers and I stayed away from this town for almost a year. I tried to fool myself into thinking nobody knew, but I was wrong.

I'm almost 20 now and I've made a big effort to hold my head up and forget the past — but people just won't let me forget.

Last night I had a date with a wonderful fellow and we went to a movie. Two girls I knew in high school were sitting in front of us. They were with boys I didn't know. The girls turned around and said hello and then they began to giggle and whisper. I could hear just enough to know they were telling the boys all about me.

After almost five years of leading a decent life don't you think people should forgive and forget? Please tell me what I can do to be accepted? — BLACK PAST

DEAR BLACK PAST: It's cruel and unfair but this is the penalty a girl must pay for "the biggest mistake a girl can make" There is no way to dim the memory of a gossip or to close his mouth.

A girl with your history is better off moving to a new community. I strongly recommend it.

CONFIDENTIAL TO NUTTY OVER HER: Just plain Nutty is more like it. A man who would join such a line-up is wacky.

Are you tempted to smoke because the crowd does? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Teen-Age Smoking," enclosing with your request 10c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

City Delays Decision On Mobile Homes

The Mayor and Council delayed action on approving a mobile home court area on Homestead Avenue yesterday despite the "green light" given to it at a meeting of the Planning and Zoning Commission September 26.

The vote by 4-1, with Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore Fleming dissenting, was taken so that a check could be made with the recently-hired city planner (Morris Knowles, Inc.) to see what objections to the granting of the permit had been voiced by the planner.

This action would be taken within the week, council promised Roy A. Rodenhauser, the applicant for the mobile home area, and his attorney, William Walsh. Earlier, Walsh had explained that the area involves 11 lots, five involving options which will begin expiring in a few days.

He said Rodenhauser feels that under a city ordinance, the Planning and Zoning Commission had the power to act and to designate such areas. He also stated that objections of the city planner had been considered in the Zoning Commission hearing and despite this, the commission had acted in favor of Rodenhauser.

It was Finance Commissioner Lucile Roeder who insisted on checking with the planner, claiming that a precedent could be set by this action and what step the council takes now will be important in view of that fact that the city will have its own planner from this time on.

Mrs. Clarence A. Meyers, 38 Memorial Avenue, voiced objection to the mobile home court. She said not one of the zoning commission members lives in that section and that everytime projects of this sort come along, they put them in South End.

"I think it is time for people of South Cumberland to stand up and be heard," she said.

Mayor J. Edwin Keech expressed the opinion that if the city does not abide by the existing ordinance in this case, he would hesitate to ask for any decisions from the commission in the future.

The bidding:

4 ♣	4 ♥	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Queen of ♠

Today's hand resembles a chess battle wherein East and South contrived strokes and counter-strokes to foil each other with the honors finally going to the defender.

The final contract of four hearts was reached on reasonable bidding, and the vulnerability conditions deterred West from taking the save in spades.

West opened the queen of spades. East felt that unless a diamond ruff could be obtained there was no hope for the defense, whereupon he overtook West's queen of spades and returned the eight of diamonds. It was, of course, his intention to run up with the ace on the first lead of trumps, put partner in by means of the jack of spades and obtain the necessary ruff.

His purpose did not escape declarer, who improvised a method to prevent East from reaching partner's hand. That East held the high clubs as well as the ace of spades seemed very likely. South therefore led a club to his hand and returned to dummy's king. Then came the ten of clubs, and when East covered with the jack, South declined to ruff, discarding his remaining spade instead.

This put an end to East's aspirations for a ruff, for there was no way to reach partner's hand. However, another line of defense suggested itself. It depended upon West having at least three hearts headed by the nine. East continued with a fourth round of clubs. South was compelled to ruff with an honor, and lead a heart honor from his hand. East won with the ace, returned the fifth round of clubs, and declarer was helpless, for he could not prevent West from scoring a trick with the nine of trumps.

B&O Officials Assume New Duties Here

A change in command became effective on the Cumberland Division of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad as the new division superintendent and new division engineer took over their duties.

H. I. Walton, who has been superintendent of the Akron-Chicago Division succeeds R. J. Cannon. Cannon Sunday became superintendent of the New York Terminal Region.

The new division engineer is a native Marylander, R. H. Rymer, who was born at Takoma Park and was graduated from the University of Maryland.

Coming with Rymer is an engineering corps. These corps are being restored to each division of the 13-state system.

The resident engineer on the division under the new setup is Samuel F. Bailey, who has been with the tunnel department at Clarksburg.

The project engineer is Frank N. Wadsworth, while Walter Balback is field engineer. Both are from the Central Region engineering office in Baltimore.

L. G. Long, who has been here, will also be a field engineer, while Morris Hawtof will be an assistant in the engineering corps.

The former Cumberland Division engineer, Edward M. Cummings, has been promoted to regional engineer, construction and maintenance, Central Region, in Baltimore.

The former assistant to the division engineer, Bruce Dunseth, has been promoted to assistant division engineer at Salamanca, N.Y.

The former assistant engineer here, S. J. Spicola, has been promoted to general track supervisor, Central Region, Baltimore.

The new division superintendent started with the railroad in June 1924 as a messenger at Willard, Ohio.

He was promoted to yardmaster in June 1929 and from then until 1938 was yardmaster at Willard, Newark, Youngstown, and Painesville, Ohio.

In 1939, he became assistant terminal trainmaster at New Castle Junction and in 1941 was made trainmaster at Cleveland. Walton became trainmaster at North Vernon, Ind., on the St. Louis Division and from 1944 to 1945 was superintendent of the New York Terminal Region.

After serving in official capacities at Garrett, Ind., and other points, he was made superintendent of the Akron Division in 1957, becoming superintendent of the combined Akron-Chicago Division this year.

Rymer joined the B&O in 1952 in the technical training program.

In 1954, he was made assistant to the Akron Division engineer; 1944, maintenance inspector at Baltimore, and 1956 to May 1957, was assistant Akron Division engineer.

Registration Set For College Course

Registration for an evening college credit course offered by the Western Maryland College will be held today at 7 p. m. in Beall High School, Frostburg.

Don A. Emerson, teacher of biology and ecology at Frostburg State Teachers College, will instruct the three hour unit on "Maryland's Natural Resources."

This conservation education course will be applied toward a degree, or toward certificate renewal for elementary teachers, or instructors of high school sciences, social studies and other related fields.

Emerson said, however, that any interested person may take the course which will be taught in Beall High School on Tuesday nights.

Two Children Hurt In Accidents

Two children were admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital Sunday after being injured in separate accidents.

Evelyn Williams, nine-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Williams, Ridgeley, was admitted for observation after she fell from her bicycle. Attaches said the girl sustained an injury to her left foot.

Kelly Lynn Hammond, 18-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hammond, 8 Marion Street, was injured when he fell from a moving car on Central Avenue.

Attaches said the infant sustained abrasions about his face and right elbow and was admitted for observation.

City Officials Discuss Snow Removal Ordinance

A revised snow removal ordinance which would make it unlawful to park on "any" street in the city when snow reached a depth of two inches was held up for a week after opposition developed to the wording of the new statute.

The ordinance, as proposed, would be in effect from November 15 to March 15 each year. It would provide for removal of cars by order of police and in cases of violation, a fine of not less than $10 nor more than $25 or in default jail of not less than one day nor more than 30 days.

The discussion was set off when Finance Commissioner Lucile Roeder questioned where the cars which had to be removed would go.

"In the county?" she asked.

Street Commissioner John J. Long said unless the city has some kind of ordinance traffic cannot be moved nor snow removed. He said "My responsibility is to remove snow, not cars. The department is trying to pre-plan."

Long told council "If you do not pass this ordinance, don't come to me when snow is not removed from the streets. Where cars are put is not my responsibility. I have asked the county to cooperate (where they leave their Franklin Street facility) and asked them to drop their plows and take care of as many streets on the way out as they can. The county said 'Sure, but get the cars off the street.' This is a team effort."

Mrs. Roeder said it was her responsibility to see that council did not pass an ordinance asking the people to do something they could not do.

Long said he felt council agreed there was need for an ordinance so in view of the discussion why not table it for a week? Mrs. Roeder so moved.

Long claimed that the question about where cars would go is a "pointed one" and added "I know where I would put mine. I have nothing to do with traffic."

Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore Fleming said the ordinance also should require that vehicles traveling in bad weather should be equipped for conditions. There should be a good snow ordinance, he said, adding that some systematic way should be set up.

Fleming said "Our department will cooperate and we'd like to have a meeting."

The only exception to the parking of cars or vehicles included in the proposed snow ordinance yesterday was when they were involved in loading or unloading.

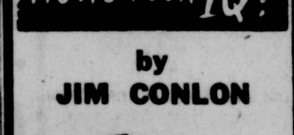

To Address Club

HOW'S YOUR IQ?
by JIM CONLON

QUESTION:

I had an accident which "totaled" my car as far as the claim adjuster was concerned. The "Blue Book" price was $400. This is the price I received. But I put over $500 into the motor and $200 into the body, so actually I didn't get the fair price. Is there anything I can do?

ANSWER:

The standard policy provides for arbitration on these matters.

Yes, this is the same Vince Edwards, who was brought out here as an actor, about ten years back by Columbia, and who is currently co-starring in the new TV series, "Ben Casey." But only Bing, listening to Vince's speaking voice, got the idea that he could sing. Or, it is just little subtleties like this that have made Mr. C. a few millions.

Those of us who have met John McCone are delighted that he has been appointed by President Kennedy to head the C.I.A. (Central Intelligence Agency).

I first met Mr McCone at a dinner party Irene Dunne gave in honor of him and his wife and Claire Booth Luce, and I was impressed by the personable McCone who was so well-informed on all current affairs.

Irene said that he was the first man she met when she came to California, long before he was married, and she thinks it's a fine honor for him, and one he will dispatch with ease and greatness.

You can practically hear those wedding bells tuning up all the way from London for Director Jack Clayton and Israeli actress Haya Harareet, femme star of "Ben-Hur." Haya has followed Jack to England, but before she left Hollywood, she confided to a close friend that Jack is expecting her to marry him - and she's ready.

He had to rush ahead on a film commitment, but Haya's remark indicates that at last Clayton's divorce problems have been solved. He's been in love with the pretty dark-eyed actress for some time.

The name of James Garner, the former Mr. Maverick, looms importantly on the Mirisch Brothers program. They have him for three motion pictures. One of them, of course, is "Children's Hour" and the second one will, most likely, be "The Great Escape," to be directed by John Sturgis.

The story of "The Great Escape" is a true one, and one so fantastic it's almost impossible to believe. It's a story of American and British airmen during World War II who were in concentration camps in Germany. They were all trouble makers, as far as the Nazis were concerned, so they were all put in one camp and given special guard. They got together, made German uniforms, and escaped.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I noted a letter in your column recently knocking palmistry and tea-leaf reading. Why don't you stick to teen-age monsters, wife-beaters and peanut-brain housewives?

I've been practicing these sciences for many years and I have profited handsomely. I was married twice and both would have been catastrophic had I attempted to keep them together. The leaves told me to get out and I did.

By reading my own palm I was able to extricate myself from a business venture after losing only $2,000. Had I continued (as the financial experts advised) I would have lost a great deal more.

Why not admit that certain fields are too much for you instead of pretending to know everything? — MADAME Z

DEAR MADAME Z.: Why didn't you check with the leaves and read your palm BEFORE you married the two beauts and BEFORE you landed in that not-so-hot business deal?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Is it true that when liquor goes in — the truth comes out?

I'm seeing a man who, on the fourth drink begins to talk about what a wonderful wife I'd make, how happy we'd be together, how cute our children would be, and how we were really meant for each other. When there is no liquor around he tells me how much money he owes, how his mother depends on him for every little thing, how uncertain his job is and suggests that I look around for a nice fellow who could offer me marriage and security.

I'm ashamed to admit that I've been going with this man for almost five years. Which is the REAL Egbert — the drunk one or the sober one? — D.L.

DEAR D.L.: What difference does it make? You wouldn't want the drunken Egbert and the sober Egbert doesn't want YOU.

A man who must get slopped to the eyeballs before he can talk about marriage is sick. Send him a get-well card—then take his advice.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: When I was 15 I made the biggest mistake a girl can make. My family sent me to a home for unwed mothers and I stayed away from this town for almost a year. I tried to fool myself into thinking nobody knew, but I was wrong.

I'm almost 20 now and I've made a big effort to hold my head up and forget the past — but people just won't let me forget.

Last night I had a date with a wonderful fellow and we went to a movie. Two girls I knew in high school were sitting in front of us. They were with boys I didn't know. The girls turned around and said hello and then they began to giggle and whisper. I could hear just enough to know they were telling the boys all about me.

After almost five years of leading a decent life don't you think people should forgive and forget? Please tell me what I can do to be accepted? — BLACK PAST

DEAR BLACK PAST: It's cruel and unfair but this is the penalty a girl must pay for "the biggest mistake a girl can make" There is no way to dim the memory of a gossip or to close his mouth.

A girl with your history is better off moving to a new community. I strongly recommend it.

CONFIDENTIAL TO NUTTY OVER HER: Just plain Nutty is more like it. A man who would join such a line-up is wacky.

Are you tempted to smoke because the crowd does? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Teen-Age Smoking," enclosing with your request 10c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

City Delays Decision On Mobile Homes

The Mayor and Council delayed action on approving a mobile home court area on Homestead Avenue yesterday despite the "green light" given to it at a meeting of the Planning and Zoning Commission September 26.

The vote by 4-1, with Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore Fleming dissenting, was taken so that a check could be made with the recently-hired city planner (Morris Knowles, Inc.) to see what objections to the granting of the permit had been voiced by the planner.

This action would be taken within the week, council promised Roy A. Rodenhauser, the applicant for the mobile home area, and his attorney, William Walsh. Earlier, Walsh had explained that the area involves 11 lots, five involving options which will begin expiring in a few days.

He said Rodenhauser feels that under a city ordinance, the Planning and Zoning Commission had the power to act and to designate such areas. He also stated that objections of the city planner had been considered in the Zoning Commission hearing and despite this, the commission had acted in favor of Rodenhauser.

It was Finance Commissioner Lucile Roeder who insisted on checking with the planner, claiming that a precedent could be set by this action and what step the council takes now will be important in view of that fact that the city will have its own planner from this time on.

Mrs. Clarence A. Meyers, 38 Memorial Avenue, voiced objection to the mobile home court. She said not one of the zoning commission members lives in that section and that everytime projects of this sort come along, they put them in South End.

"I think it is time for people of South Cumberland to stand up and be heard," she said.

Mayor J. Edwin Keech expressed the opinion that if the city does not abide by the existing ordinance in this case, he would hesitate to ask for any decisions from the commission in the future.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North

4 ♣	4 ♥	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Queen of ♠

Today's hand resembles a chess battle wherein East and South contrived strokes and counter-strokes to foil each other with the honors finally going to the defender.

The final contract of four hearts was reached on reasonable bidding, and the vulnerability conditions deterred West from taking the save in spades.

West opened the queen of spades. East felt that unless a diamond ruff could be obtained there was no hope for the defense, whereupon he overtook West's queen of spades and returned the eight of diamonds. It was, of course, his intention to run up with the ace on the first lead of trumps, put partner in by means of the jack of spades and obtain the necessary ruff.

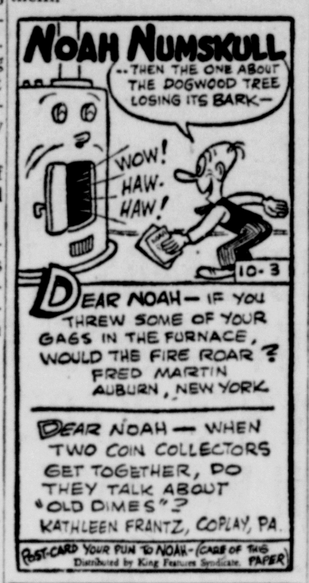

His purpose did not escape declarer, who improvised a method to prevent East from reaching partner's hand. That East held the high clubs as well as the ace of spades seemed very likely. South therefore led a club to his hand and returned to dummy's king. Then came the ten of clubs, and when East covered with the jack, South declined to ruff, discarding his remaining spade instead.

This put an end to East's aspirations for a ruff, for there was no way to reach partner's hand. However, another line of defense suggested itself. It depended upon West having at least three hearts headed by the nine. East continued with a fourth round of clubs. South was compelled to ruff with an honor, and lead a heart honor from his hand. East won with the ace, returned the fifth round of clubs, and declarer was helpless, for he could not prevent West from scoring a trick with the nine of trumps.

B&O Officials Assume New Duties Here

A change in command became effective on the Cumberland Division of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad as the new division superintendent and new division engineer took over their duties.

H. I. Walton, who has been superintendent of the Akron-Chicago Division succeeds R. J. Cannon. Cannon Sunday became superintendent of the New York Terminal Region.

The new division engineer is a native Marylander, R. H. Rymer, who was born at Takoma Park and was graduated from the University of Maryland.

Coming with Rymer is an engineering corps. These corps are being restored to each division of the 13-state system.

The resident engineer on the division under the new setup is Samuel F. Bailey, who has been with the tunnel department at Clarksburg.

The project engineer is Frank N. Wadsworth, while Walter Balback is field engineer. Both are from the Central Region engineering office in Baltimore.

L. G. Long, who has been here, will also be a field engineer, while Morris Hawtof will be an assistant in the engineering corps.

The former Cumberland Division engineer, Edward M. Cummings, has been promoted to regional engineer, construction and maintenance, Central Region, in Baltimore.

The former assistant to the division engineer, Bruce Dunseth, has been promoted to assistant division engineer at Salamanca, N.Y.

The former assistant engineer here, S. J. Spicola, has been promoted to general track supervisor, Central Region, Baltimore.

The new division superintendent started with the railroad in June 1924 as a messenger at Willard, Ohio.

He was promoted to yardmaster in June 1929 and from then until 1938 was yardmaster at Willard, Newark, Youngstown, and Painesville, Ohio.

In 1939, he became assistant terminal trainmaster at New Castle Junction and in 1941 was made trainmaster at Cleveland. Walton became trainmaster at North Vernon, Ind., on the St. Louis Division and from 1944 to 1945 was superintendent of the New York Terminal Region.

After serving in official capacities at Garrett, Ind., and other points, he was made superintendent of the Akron Division in 1957, becoming superintendent of the combined Akron-Chicago Division this year.

Rymer joined the B&O in 1952 in the technical training program.

In 1954, he was made assistant to the Akron Division engineer; 1944, maintenance inspector at Baltimore, and 1956 to May 1957, was assistant Akron Division engineer.

Two Children Hurt In Accidents

Two children were admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital Sunday after being injured in separate accidents.

Evelyn Williams, nine-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Williams, Ridgeley, was admitted for observation after she fell from her bicycle. Attaches said the girl sustained an injury to her left foot.

Kelly Lynn Hammond, 18-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hammond, 8 Marion Street, was injured when he fell from a moving car on Central Avenue.

Attaches said the infant sustained abrasions about his face and right elbow and was admitted for observation.

City Officials Discuss Snow Removal Ordinance

A revised snow removal ordinance which would make it unlawful to park on "any" street in the city when snow reached a depth of two inches was held up for a week after opposition developed to the wording of the new statute.

The ordinance, as proposed, would be in effect from November 15 to March 15 each year. It would provide for removal of cars by order of police and in cases of violation, a fine of not less than $10 nor more than $25 or in default jail of not less than one day nor more than 30 days.

The discussion was set off when Finance Commissioner Lucile Roeder questioned where the cars which had to be removed would go.

"In the county?" she asked.

Street Commissioner John J. Long said unless the city has some kind of ordinance traffic cannot be moved nor snow removed. He said "My responsibility is to remove snow, not cars. The department is trying to pre-plan."

Long told council "If you do not pass this ordinance, don't come to me when snow is not removed from the streets. Where cars are put is not my responsibility. I have asked the county to cooperate (where they leave their Franklin Street facility) and asked them to drop their plows and take care of as many streets on the way out as they can. The county said 'Sure, but get the cars off the street.' This is a team effort."

Mrs. Roeder said it was her responsibility to see that council did not pass an ordinance asking the people to do something they could not do.

Long said he felt council agreed there was need for an ordinance so in view of the discussion why not table it for a week? Mrs. Roeder so moved.

Long claimed that the question about where cars would go is a "pointed one" and added "I know where I would put mine. I have nothing to do with traffic."

Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore Fleming said the ordinance also should require that vehicles traveling in bad weather should be equipped for conditions. There should be a good snow ordinance, he said, adding that some systematic way should be set up.

Fleming said "Our department will cooperate and we'd like to have a meeting."

The only exception to the parking of cars or vehicles included in the proposed snow ordinance yesterday was when they were involved in loading or unloading.

HOW'S YOUR IQ?

by JIM CONLON

QUESTION:

I had an accident which "totaled" my car as far as the claim adjuster was concerned. The "Blue Book" price was $400. This is the price I received. But I put over $500 into the motor and $200 into the body, so actually I didn't get the fair price. Is there anything I can do?

ANSWER:

The standard policy provides for arbitration on these matters.

September Rainfall Tops Area Average

First Frost Early This Year

FROSTBURG—September temperatures and rainfall were both higher than normal at Frostburg, it is shown in the monthly weather summary prepared by C. Walter Hayes, Upper Potomac River Commission, weather observer.

Rainfall for the month, as totaled by Hayes, amounted to 4.16 inches, the largest portion (2.95 inches) of which was received in the September 6, thunderstorm of five hour duration.

Normal September rainfall here is 3.29 inches. Last September rainfall here was 4.48 inches.

The first nine months of the year, except January, May, June and August, have had above average precipitation. In January, May, June and August, 13.87 inches of rain fell, while the average for these months is 15.81 inches.

The average precipitation for the first nine months of the year is 32.17 inches and 40.28 inches are measured to date.

Hayes said records kept by C. Amer Suter, local observer for the U. S. Weather Bureau, showed the average maximum temperature for the month was 80 degrees, 3.9 degrees above the average of 76.1 degrees. The average minimum temperature for the month was 55.6 degrees, 3.5 degrees above the average of 52.1 degrees.

The mean average daily temperature was 67.8 degrees, 3.7 degrees higher than normal mean daily average of 64.1 degrees. The mean daily average in September of last year, was 64.3 degrees. The warmest of September on record was in 1930 with a mean daily average of 69 degres.

The warmest day 90 degrees, was recorded on the first day of the month. Temperature ranged over a span of 59 degrees in the month, the lowest September temperature being 31 degrees on September 29. There were eight days in which mercury reached the 87-degree mark or higher.

September temperatures in 1960 ranged from a high of 86 degrees to a low of 41, spanning 45 degrees.

The past month had three clear, 25 partly cloudy and two cloudy days.

The ground was white with frost on the morning of the 29th., when temperature was 31 degrees. This was the first frost of the season. The average frost date here is October 6.

Grandma Harmon Age 102, Is Dead

BECKLEY, W. Va. (UPI) — Grandma Harmon is dead. Mrs. Rebecca McCann Harmon, who remembered Abe Lincoln's "four score and seven" Gettysburg address, died in Washington Sunday at the age of five score and two.

Mrs. Harmon had more than the usual reason for interest in Lincoln. She was a first cousin, once removed, of the president. Her grandfather James Hanks was a brother of Nancy Hanks, Lincoln's mother.

Death at age 102 came at the home of her daughter Mrs. Virginia Taylor, with whom Grandma Harmon, as she was widely known in the rural Egeria section and other parts of Raleigh County, had lived the past year and a half.

In addition to Mrs. Taylor, survivors include three sons, 44 grandchildren, 80 great grandchildren and three great-great grandchildren.

West Virginians Need To Carry Two Watches

MARTINSBURG, W. Va. (UPI) — The hodge-podge arrangement of daylight-vs. standard time observance in West Virginia's Eastern Panhandle is back.

There had been annual confusion as to the start and end of daylight saving time observance until about two years ago when the towns of the area apparently got together to bring about some semblance of order. But the foulup is back.

Martinsburg will stay on D.S.T. until Oct. 29, along with most other areas of the nation that observe "fast" time. But in adjoining Jefferson County they've got both. Charles Town, Harpers Ferry, Bolivar and Ransom reverted to standard time Sunday. Shepherdstown, however, stayed on D.S.T.

And in Morgan County Berkeley Springs is staying on D.S.T. until the end of the month, but the county school system switched back to "slow" time Monday.

The Morgantown and Kingwood areas returned to standard time last week. So did Moundsville, but other parts of the Northern Panhandle are staying on D.S.T. until the 29th.

Maybe the answer is to carry two watches.

Grandma Harmon Age 102, Is Dead

BECKLEY, W. Va. (UPI) — Grandma Harmon is dead. Mrs. Rebecca McCann Harmon, who remembered Abe Lincoln's "four score and seven" Gettysburg address, died in Washington Sunday at the age of five score and two.

Mrs. Harmon had more than the usual reason for interest in Lincoln. She was a first cousin, once removed, of the president. Her grandfather James Hanks was a brother of Nancy Hanks, Lincoln's mother.

Death at age 102 came at the home of her daughter Mrs. Virginia Taylor, with whom Grandma Harmon, as she was widely known in the rural Egeria section and other parts of Raleigh County, had lived the past year and a half.

In addition to Mrs. Taylor, survivors include three sons, 44 grandchildren, 80 great grandchildren and three great-great grandchildren.

West Virginians Need To Carry Two Watches

MARTINSBURG, W. Va. (UPI) — The hodge-podge arrangement of daylight-vs. standard time observance in West Virginia's Eastern Panhandle is back.

There had been annual confusion as to the start and end of daylight saving time observance until about two years ago when the towns of the area apparently got together to bring about some semblance of order. But the foul-up is back.

Martinsburg will stay on D.S.T. until Oct. 29, along with most other areas of the nation that observe "fast" time. But in adjoining Jefferson County they've got both. Charles Town, Harpers Ferry, Bolivar and Ransom reverted to standard time Sunday. Shepherdstown, however, stayed on D.S.T.

And in Morgan County Berkeley Springs is staying on D.S.T. until the end of the month, but the county school system switched back to "slow" time Monday.

The Morgantown and Kingwood areas returned to standard time last week. So did Moundsville, but other parts of the Northern Panhandle are staying on D.S.T. until the 29th.

Maybe the answer is to carry two watches.

The Handicapped Can Do A Job

Efforts to train and find employment for the nation's handicapped operate on a year-round basis. But once each year it is the custom to observe Employ the Physically Handicapped Week, to point up not only what has been accomplished but also to acquaint more people and particularly more employers with the advantages of hiring workers from this rich source of manpower.

Very few jobs in any office or in industry require physical perfection. The handicap that bars a man from football doesn't necessarily keep him from playing a good game of golf. And because a man moves about in a wheelchair or uses a cane is no reason to assume that in mental capacity he falls short of a man who has full use of his limbs.

It is really not surprising to learn that impaired workers, as a group, produce at slightly higher rates than unimpaired workers on the same jobs—and that their disabling injuries are fewer.

Efforts to place the physically impaired in industry are designed primarily to permit these people to make the contribution they are qualified to make. But in attempting to overcome lingering and widespread misconceptions concerning the capacity of these persons, there is also a secondary aim.

That is to avoid the tremendous economic waste of the manpower potential represented by the nation's handicapped.

Employ the Physically Handicapped Week does not ask the employer to accept workers below his staff standards. But it does ask him to take advantage of the many people who are handicapped in some respects but nevertheless are fully qualified to do a job he wants done.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Beware!

Senator Thomas J. Dodd, of Connecticut, calls renewed attention to an old swindle. The swindle is a very simple one. No Communist country recognizes the right of private ownership of property. Therefore parcels or money sent to that country are the property of the government just as everything else is. Certain modifications of property ownership have developed in recent years, but they are subject to government negation without trial.

The General Parcel and Travel Company at 135 West 14 Street, New York City handles transactions, such as the transfer of American gifts to Russians. The predecessor of this agency was Jacob Golos who was a spy, using a travel agency as a cover. Senator Dodd said of this agency:

"While the director of General Parcel, Mr. Leonid Tankel, is an American citizen, and while the company is incorporated under American law, there is little doubt that it was created by Intourist especially for the purpose of serving as its representative in the area of parcel remittances to the Soviet Union. General Parcel and Travel Company has twelve branch offices in various parts of the country. The directors of these branches are American citizens, for the most part refugees themselves, who enjoy friendly relations with the refugee and immigrant community because they are considered non-Communists."

According to Senator Dodd, although the heavy duties have been prepaid in this country, almost 6,000 parcels have been returned to the United States from Soviet Russia on the grounds that the duty on the contents had not been prepaid. Who got the money? Why are some parcels rotting in the New York Post Office? The money was paid by the sender but this was denied by the carrier who received the money.

This question has arisen for many years. Relatives in this country discover that parcels they sent to Soviet Russia never arrived at their destination. There is really nothing anyone can do about it, except to send another parcel of food or clothing or whatever gift one wishes to give.

Senator Dodd says:

"I do not know at what point in the transmission line the prepaid duties disappeared. The money may very well have disappeared in the office of the General Parcel and Travel Company, and not in the Intourist office. But I feel that this is a situation in which the Soviet authorities should voluntarily assume responsibility for the actions of their hand-chosen contractual agent in this country."

I think this is rather naive because under Russian law, such parcels as Senator Dodd describes are private property and are therefore subject to government confiscation in Soviet Russia. Why should one be surprised that this happens? Since the earliest days, Soviet Russia has been confiscating private property which it does not recognize as lawful. Why not do so now? Why permit Russians to believe that Americans have superior consumers' goods?

It is the proper function of the United States Post Office and the Treasury to investigate the activities not only of the General Parcel and Travel Company but Intourist to make sure that Americans who prepay for services get what they pay for. As all Russian companies are owned by the Russian government, when a problem arises concerning them, the inquiry becomes a diplomatic incident because what has to be investigated is the Russian government.

This then is a serious matter. For instance, what happens if an American leaves a bequest to a relative in Russia? Who gets the money? Usually, the Russian government gets the money or the property, but as it does not wish to disclose itself, the property lies fallow in a bank in this country. This entire procedure needs to be investigated very thoroughly so that American citizens are not gypped under the peculiar Soviet property system. The Russians have a right to pursue any system of private property that they choose, but they are not entitled to steal money or goods sent from this country. It is not permissible to steal under any circumstances.

Senator Dodd has hit on a very interesting subject which ought to give the Congressional committee of which he is a member an opportunity for interesting study. Congressional committees can be kept very busy uncovering Russian tricks.

Communist Advisers Losing Cold War In Guinea With Poor Tactics

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Coming back to the USA after a month's absence in Europe, it seemed to me that an unusual number of Americans had an inferiority complex, believed American capitalism could not compete in the long run with Russian Communism, that war was inevitable.

To these discouraged souls I would call attention to the example of Guinea, a country which was freed by the French about two years ago, now has 1,200 Communist bloc advisers telling it what to do, and would give its eyeteeth to get rid of them. These Communist advisers are rapidly driving Guinea back into the arms of the free world.

Here is the inside story of what happened:

At the time President de Gaulle gave grudging independence to Guinea in 1959, the retiring French ripped out all the telephones, removed furniture from government offices, carted out all police firearms, drove away all buses, ambulances, and fire trucks, took almost everything except the paved streets back to France.

In desperation, the new President of Guinea, Sekou Toure, appealed to the pro-American President of Liberia, William V. S. Tubman, to get his help in getting help from the USA. Tubman promptly relayed the appeal. But the State Department, knowing how wrathy President de Gaulle was toward the Guineans, did nothing. They were afraid to offend de Gaulle.

So President Sekou Toure, after two months of waiting, appealed to Moscow and within three days a plane-load of experts arrived in Guinea. These advisers have increased to around 1,200 and have included every country from the Communist bloc, including even tiny Albania and distant Northern Vietnam.

Underdeveloped Disenchantment

But they have behaved just like ugly Americans. They drive their cars too fast. They complain about the food. They don't like the tropical heat. They get sick. They want to go home. They haven't learned as well as we have how to get along in underdeveloped countries.

Each Soviet bloc country has tackled a different project in Guinea. The Poles are developing the fishing industry. The Czechs have built the tower at the airport and are working on a sports stadium. The Russians have built the radio station. The Bulgarians have brought in some veterinarians and some tapes for radio transcriptions. The Hungarians are working with the Guinea teachers.

The Yugoslavs, who don't actually belong to the Soviet bloc, but are Communists, are building a dam. But not all these Communist emissaries of reconstruction get along with each other.

The Yugoslavs, for instance, hate the Chinese, feel they are much more dangerous than the Russians — especially in Africa. There, the Chinese have the advantage of color. They are closer in color to the Africans. They also live more simply, can live on the country and not die. The Russians have never been able to do this. They come from a northern climate, don't adjust readily to the tropics. Americans, accustomed to long hot summers, adjust much more readily.

The Chinese have 100 people in Guinea working on agricultural projects. They live separately with a huge wall around their houses, don't mix with other Communists. The Russians, Poles, et al are cordial with Americans, even though competing, but not the Cubans or Chinese.

To Heck With Propaganda

But the native Guineans don't like all this modern civilization suddenly dumped in their lap. The East Germans, for instance, put up a loudspeaker system. They had hundreds of local workers digging ditches to run cable lines to loudspeakers which blared out Cuban calypso, bad jazz, and interminable speeches all day long.

But the Guineans got awfully tired of being preached to. They didn't like to have speeches and music blaring out from every other telephone pole disturbing their previously quiet existence. They turned the loudspeakers off.

Finally, President Sekou Toure appealed to the American ambassador, Bill Atwood, a former editor of Look Magazine, and Atwood persuaded Sargent Shriver, head of the Peace Corps and Kennedy's brother-in-law, to come to Guinea.

He was given a great reception. President Toure toured the country with him shouting "Long live Shriver! Long live America!"

When the President's own newspaper carried a critical editorial on Shriver, it was censored. Copies of the paper mysteriously disappeared. On another occasion when a Chinese Nationalist newsman arrived from Formosa, the Red Chinese ambassador insisted that he be expelled. Sekou Toure refused.

The competition for an independent Guinea has by no means been won, but the corner has turned. President Toure is making up with the French, wants them to bring back their teachers. The Guineans speak French and this is a big handicap for Soviet bloc advisers.

The United States has no aid mission in Guinea, but may send one on a small scale. Ambassador Atwood wants to begin cautiously. Meanwhile the West Germans are the only Western country active in Guinea and they have been doing an excellent job. They put in an automatic machine for smoking fish. You put a fresh fish in at one end and it comes out smoked at the other. Fish is the chief diet in Guinea, so this made a big hit.

Also the President was pleased when the West Germans put in a new water main. He hadn't been able to get water on the second floor of his house. Now, thanks to the West Germans, he can.

In brief, Americans shouldn't feel so frustrated. When we're wise, cautious, competitive we do all right. Without war, our grandchildren will not have to live under Communism.

Many JFK Appointees Served Under Truman

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—Former President Truman has been the recipient of a good many brickbats in his day, so credit now should be given where credit is due. For he did pick some able men for the public service. Yet newspaper reports in the last few days, in referring to various appointments by President Kennedy, have mentioned only their service under the Eisenhower Administration while omitting that they were first appointed by President Truman.

Thus, for example, when the appointment of John A. McCone to be head of the Central Intelligence Agency to succeed Allen Dulles was announced last week, emphasis was placed generally on the point that he had served as Chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission under President Eisenhower. But he also served previously as Deputy to the Secretary of Defense in 1948 and then as Under Secretary of the Air Force during the height of the Korean War in 1950 and 1951. This is very important background and experience for a man who is chosen to run the Central Intelligence Agency during a "cold war."

Looking back to the Truman Administration, one can find officials who served in important posts then who, by reason of that same experience, are appointees today of the Kennedy Administration. Several of them can hardly be classed as active Democrats just because they served under a Democratic administration.

Thus, Dean Rusk was Assistant Secretary of State for Far Eastern Affairs under the Truman Administrations and held other state department posts from 1946 to 1952 except for a year when he was a special assistant to the Secretary of War. But he is not generally regarded as a political appointee.

Then there's General Lucius Clay who, when appointed President Kennedy's special representative in Berlin recently, was referred to in the press as a Republican and as a friend of President Eisenhower. But it so happens that, although General Clay was a Deputy Commander under General Eisenhower in 1945, he also served under President Truman as Commander-in-Chief of U. S. forces in Europe and military governor of the U.S. Zone in Germany from 1947 to 1949.

Again, when William C. Foster was named the other day as director of the New Disarmament Agency, emphasis was placed on the fact that he is a Republican. The experience he had under the Truman Administration however, was virtually ignored. For he served as Under Secretary of Commerce from 1946 to 1948 and as Administrator of the Economic Cooperation Administration in 1950 and 1951 and as Deputy Secretary of Defense from 1951 to 1953—all this under the Truman Administration.

There are many other officials appointed by President Kennedy who also served under President Truman. It may be assumed that they have been appointed to office by Mr. Kennedy not because they were Democrats, but because they have had experience in government in particular lines.

Here are some of the men President Kennedy has appointed who served in the Truman Administration:

Roswell L. Gilpatric, formerly Assistant Secretary and then Under Secretary of the Air Force from 1951 to 1953, is today the Deputy Secretary of Defense.

Thomas K. Finletter, who was Secretary of the Air Force from 1950 to 1953, is now Ambassador to NATO.

James E. Webb, who was director of the Bureau of the Budget from 1946 to 1949 and then Under Secretary of State from 1949 to 1952, is now head of the National Space and Aeronautics Administration.

Paul Nitze, who now is Assistant Secretary of Defense in charge of international security affairs, served in various capacities under Democratic Administrations beginning in 1939 and was director of the policy planning staff of the Secretary of State from 1950 to 1952 under President Truman.

Eugene M. Zuckert, who now is Secretary of the Air Force, served as Assistant Secretary of the Air Force from 1947 to 1952 and as a member of the Atomic Energy Commission from 1952 to 1954.

Roger Tubby, who was assistant press secretary for Mr. Truman at the White House from 1950 to 1952 and had served previously as an information officer in other departments of the government, now is Assistant Secretary of State for Public Affairs.

There are several other men who were first appointed by President Truman and now hold important posts in the Kennedy Administration. Among them is George McGhee, who is chairman of the Policy Planning Council in the State Department but who served in that department under the Truman Administration as Assistant Secretary for Near Eastern, South Asian and African affairs. Also there's Averell Harriman, who was Secretary of Commerce under President Truman and is now Roving Ambassador. Likewise, David K. Bruce, now Ambassador to Great Britain, was Under Secretary of State from 1949 to 1952 in the Truman Administration.

What does all this prove? That experience counts in government and a President who needs a specialist for a particular job doesn't stop to think how a man might have voted before but considers primarily whether he has the knowledge and background to do the job. Nor is President Kennedy an exception in applying that rule in the White House.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

ALERT TEEN-AGER—A boy's sharp eye and retentive memory have resulted in the re-printing of a booklet on Lincoln to correct an error that had been missed by everyone else.

A 14-year-old Washington schoolboy, who incidentally got an "A" in history last term, found a discrepancy on the date that the last photograph of President Lincoln was taken.

He noted that a pamphlet at the Lincoln Museum issued by the National Park Service carried a picture of Lincoln said to have been taken on April 10,1865, four days before he was assassinated.

He also noted, in a non-governmental pamphlet on Lincoln photos, that the same picture of Lincoln was said to have been taken on April 9, 1865 a day earlier.

The boy wrote to Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall, and Udall put departmental historians to work to find out which date was correct.

It developed that, until 1944, the picture, known to be the last taken of Lincoln, was thought to have been snapped on April 9. But work by a noted collector of Lincoln photographs determined that the correct date of the photo was April 10.

Udall replied to the youngster, thanking him for his information and pointing out that the government pamphlet carries the correct date. But the publisher of the non-governmental booklet, who learned of the discrepancy from the youth's letter, is having his booklet reprinted.

A LITTLE LATE — New York City Mayor Robert F. Wagner dashed off a telegram to Sen. Kenneth B. Keating recently urging him to vote for the Kennedy administration's housing bill and listing the reasons why. The only trouble was that Wagner's wire was sent off weeks after the Senate had voted on the bill— in fact after the bill had become law.

Keating sent a responding wire advising the Mayor that he had voted for the bill, and adding this needle: "I hope that you will not hesitate to inform me in the future of your views on any legislation, but it is desirable that I should learn of these views before the legislation has actually passed."

Needless to say Wagner is a Democrat; Keating a Republican.

The Demise Of God

By John Crosby

"The big theological thing now going in intellectual circles is the celebration of the demise of God."

That's the lead sentence on a book review in "The Nation" and it's a dilly. In fact, any way you look at it, it's an extra-ordinary sentence. Demise of God? What's a story like that doing on page 209? Why not page 1?

And dig that style, man. "The big theological thing now going in intellectual circles." Whee! The book was written by Julian N. Hartt, professor of philosophical theology in Yale Divinity School and chairman of the department of religion at Yale University. Man, they didn't talk like that at the divinity school when I was at Yale.

So God is finished? Have they told Paramount? They may be able to get along without God in the churches but they're going to have a devil of a time managing in Hollywood where God has been big box office for years. And MGM just about to release "King of Kings"!

Mr. Hartt is reviewing three books at once — "The Death of God" by Gabriel Vahanian, "The Future of Unbelief" by Gerhard Szczesny, and "The Newtime Religion" by Clair Cox, and after that breathtaking opening sentence, he goes on to state: "Many deep thinkers are convinced that the Christian faith, though not yet the Christian church, is out of business."

All three books get bad notices, though some get worse than others. "Mrs. Cox has gathered many facts, rather more than this reader cares to think about." So much for Mrs. Cox. Then Mr. Hartt wheels up the heavy artillery. "Mr. Szczesny's performance is quite the worst of its sort to come this way in a good while . . . He contends that Christianity is no longer believable; and he declares that the substitute faiths of modernity are not viable."

Mr. Vahanian get more notice than the others. "He seeks to show how other forms of religiousness, other gods have arisen; and notably the exaltation of man himself to the position once enjoyed by Christ alone—"

Here Mr. Hartt takes a strong stand: "He does not know how many people still believe in God, nor does anybody else know. Then what evidence is available in support of the cry that God is dead?" Whatever it is, says Hartt, it isn't enough. While conceding that the "spokesmen of religious emptiness" contain many more prize-winners than those of piety, he's still among the last-named.

I'm surprised Mr. Hartt got through his essay without reference to Sir Julian Huxley, one of the more distinguished refuters of God around. Huxley has a new book out called "The Humanist Frame," in which he postulates an evolutionary religion to help us get along in a Godless universe.

If I understand Huxley correctly, and I think I do, he thinks the human race has simply outgrown God as a child outgrows a belief in Santa Claus and it's time for him to progress to other more mature religions.

"Evolutionary man can no longer take refuge from his loneliness by creeping for shelter into the arms of a divinized father-figure whom he has himself created nor escape from the responsibility of making decisions by sheltering under the umbrella of Divine Authority, nor absolve himself from the hard task of meeting his present problems and planning his future by relying on the will of an omniscient but unfortunately inscrutable Providence."

In other words, man, according to Huxley, should stop blaming God for his ills and take his fate in his own hands. And in a ringing and beautiful affirmation, he tells us to face our destiny and our duty with "courage tempered with wisdom and hope tempered with knowledge." The way Huxley puts it, Godlessness is a little like leaving home for the first time: scary but an inevitable part of mankind's maturity.

Much Remains To Be Learned About Epilepsy

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

A Pittsburgh woman makes the following comments: "Some of the best neurologists in the country, indeed the world, have told me epilepsy is a symptom and not a disease. There are numerous causes for such attacks. Let's not speak with such authority until we have some proved scientific facts."

Epilepsy is not a symptom. It is a neurological disorder and its victims become unconscious and/or develop convulsions. The convulsion is the symptom and there are many causes of such attacks. Our reader has confused the manifestation with the disease.

Convulsions may occur as a symptom of brain tumor or in infants due to the effects on the brain of fever. Epilepsy is considered when the convulsions come and go or develop for no apparent reason.

The electroencephalogram usually reveals a charasteristic abnormality of the brain waves. We do not know why. Our reader closes her letter with the sentence, "Basic research may some day surprise us all." When this day comes, epilepsy still will be a neurological disorder and the manifestations still will be the symptoms.

Most of today's research is concentrated on discovering drugs to eliminate or reduce the number of seizures. Products such as Dilantin, Peganone, or Milontin keep the attacks under control in 75 per cent of all epileptics.

Scientists are working to determine why the brain waves go berserk in these individuals. The answer may turn out to be a disturbance in the chemical balance of the body, a missing enzyme, a glandular disorder, or a metabolic deficiency.

(Dr. Van Dellen will send leaflet on epilepsy if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

TOMORROW: Retirement.

PAINFUL HIP

A. T. writes: What is the best exercise for a person with arthritis of one hip?

REPLY

FEARFUL

Mrs. J. S. writes: Which is better to cure fears—psycho-therapy or shock treatments?

REPLY

The best plan is to have a talk with a practical and sympathetic physician. If he thinks your fears are beyond reason, so that your thinking or behavior is distorted, psychiatric care may be suggested. Each case must be treated on an individual basis.

TALL GIRL

Mrs. R. B. writes: My 12 year old daughter is the tallest in her class. Is there any way further growth can be retarded?

REPLY

No. From this point on, her classmates may have a growth spurt and your daughter conceivably might end up shorter than her friends.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

The day after a sedate school teacher bought a second-hand sedan she drove it back to the dealers's yard.

"What's wrong?" asked the dealer anxiously.

"Nothing at all," said the teacher sweetly. "I just want to return these things for the dear little old lady you told me owned the car before you sold it to me. She left this plug of tobacco in the glove compartment, and this half-empty bottle of gin under the seat."

A young man once found a few dollar bills on the sidewalk. From that time on he never lifted his eyes from the ground while walking. In the course of thirty years he accumulated 25,916 buttons, 52,172 pins, seven pennies, a bent back, and sour, miserly disposition.

He lost the glories of the light, the smiles of his friends, the beauties of nature, and the opportunity to enjoy his fellow man and spread happiness.

You're Telling Me!

By William Ritt

The new edition of the United Nations Statistical Yearbook reports that the Irish are the best fed folk on the face of the globe. Wouldn't know about that, but corned beef and cabbage sure ranks aces here!

And, come to think of it, Irish stew isn't even a little bit hard to take, either!

Annual loss to U. S. farmers from plant diseases, insects and weeds totals $13 billion. A mighty unlucky number!

One of the big stage hits in Peiping, China, is a play based on the "Uucle Tom's Cabin" story. Just 100 years behind.

A short cut, according to a philosopher, is not the road to success. Unless, of course, suggests Milt, the sterling printer, you happen to be slicing ham for some restaurant!

This year marks the centennial of the introduction of the pretzel, American style. We'd much rather celebrate that than the Civil War!

The Handicapped Can Do A Job

Efforts to train and find employment for the nation's handicapped operate on a year-round basis. But once each year it is the custom to observe Employ the Physically Handicapped Week, to point up not only what has been accomplished but also to acquaint more people and particularly more employers with the advantages of hiring workers from this rich source of manpower.

Very few jobs in any office or in industry require physical perfection. The handicap that bars a man from football doesn't necessarily keep him from playing a good game of golf. And because a man moves about in a wheelchair or uses a cane is no reason to assume that in mental capacity he falls short of a man who has full use of his limbs.

It is really not surprising to learn that impaired workers, as a group, produce at slightly higher rates than unimpaired workers on the same jobs—and that their disabling injuries are fewer.

Efforts to place the physically impaired in industry are designed primarily to permit these people to make the contribution they are qualified to make. But in attempting to overcome lingering and widespread misconceptions concerning the capacity of these persons, there is also a secondary aim.

That is to avoid the tremendous economic waste of the manpower potential represented by the nation's handicapped.

Employ the Physically Handicapped Week does not ask the employer to accept workers below his staff standards. But it does ask him to take advantage of the many people who are handicapped in some respects but nevertheless are fully qualified to do a job he wants done.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Beware!

Senator Thomas J. Dodd, of Connecticut, calls renewed attention to an old swindle. The swindle is a very simple one. No Communist country recognizes the right of private ownership of property. Therefore parcels or money sent to that country are the property of the government just as everything else is. Certain modifications of property ownership have developed in recent years, but they are subject to government negation without trial.

The General Parcel and Travel Company at 135 West 14 Street, New York City handles transactions, such as the transfer of American gifts to Russians. The predecessor of this agency was Jacob Golos who was a spy, using a travel agency as a cover. Senator Dodd said of this agency:

"While the director of General Parcel, Mr. Leonid Tankel, is an American citizen, and while the company is incorporated under American law, there is little doubt that it was created by Intourist especially for the purpose of serving as its representative in the area of parcel remittances to the Soviet Union. General Parcel and Travel Company has twelve branch offices in various parts of the country. The directors of these branches are American citizens, for the most part refugees themselves, who enjoy friendly relations with the refugee and immigrant community because they are considered non-Communists."

According to Senator Dodd, although the heavy duties have been prepaid in this country, almost 6,000 parcels have been returned to the United States from Soviet Russia on the grounds that the duty on the contents had not been prepaid. Who got the money? Why are some parcels rotting in the New York Post Office? The money was paid by the sender but this was denied by the carrier who received the money.

This question has arisen for many years. Relatives in this country discover that parcels they sent to Soviet Russia never arrived at their destination. There is really nothing anyone can do about it, except to send another parcel of food or clothing or whatever gift one wishes to give.

Senator Dodd says:

"I do not know at what point in the transmission line the prepaid duties disappeared. The money may very well have disappeared in the office of the General Parcel and Travel Company, and not in the Intourist office. But I feel that this is a situation in which the Soviet authorities should voluntarily assume responsibility for the actions of their hand-chosen contractual agent in this country."

I think this is rather naive because under Russian law, such parcels as Senator Dodd describes are private property and are therefore subject to government confiscation in Soviet Russia. Why should one be surprised that this happens? Since the earliest days, Soviet Russia has been confiscating private property which it does not recognize as lawful. Why not do so now? Why permit Russians to believe that Americans have superior consumers' goods?

It is the proper function of the United States Post Office and the Treasury to investigate the activities not only of the General Parcel and Travel Company but Intourist to make sure that Americans who prepay for services get what they pay for. As all Russian companies are owned by the Russian government, when a problem arises concerning them, the inquiry becomes a diplomatic incident because what has to be investigated is the Russian government.

This then is a serious matter. For instance, what happens if an American leaves a bequest to a relative in Russia? Who gets the money? Usually, the Russian government gets the money or the property, but as it does not wish to disclose itself, the property lies fallow in a bank in this country. This entire procedure needs to be investigated very thoroughly so that American citizens are not gypped under the peculiar Soviet property system. The Russians have a right to pursue any system of private property that they choose, but they are not entitled to steal money or goods sent from this country. It is not permissible to steal under any circumstances.

Senator Dodd has hit on a very interesting subject which ought to give the Congressional committee of which he is a member an opportunity for interesting study. Congressional committees can be kept very busy uncovering Russian tricks.

Communist Advisers Losing Cold War In Guinea With Poor Tactics

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Coming back to the USA after a month's absence in Europe, it seemed to me that an unusual number of Americans had an inferiority complex, believed American capitalism could not compete in the long run with Russian Communism, that war was inevitable.

To these discouraged souls I would call attention to the example of Guinea, a country which was freed by the French about two years ago, now has 1,200 Communist bloc advisers telling it what to do, and would give its eyeteeth to get rid of them. These Communist advisers are rapidly driving Guinea back into the arms of the free world.

Here is the inside story of what happened:

At the time President de Gaulle gave grudging independence to Guinea in 1959, the retiring French ripped out all the telephones, removed furniture from government offices, carted out all police firearms, drove away all buses, ambulances, and fire trucks, took almost everything except the paved streets back to France.

In desperation, the new President of Guinea, Sekou Toure, appealed to the pro-American President of Liberia, William V. S. Tubman, to get his help in getting help from the USA. Tubman promptly relayed the appeal. But the State Department, knowing how wrathy President de Gaulle was toward the Guineans, did nothing. They were afraid to offend de Gaulle.

So President Sekou Toure, after two months of waiting, appealed to Moscow and within three days a plane-load of experts arrived in Guinea. These advisers have increased to around 1,200 and have included every country from the Communist bloc, including even tiny Albania and distant Northern Vietnam.

Underdeveloped Disenchantment

But they have behaved just like ugly Americans. They drive their cars too fast. They complain about the food. They don't like the tropical heat. They get sick. They want to go home. They haven't learned as well as we have how to get along in underdeveloped countries.

Each Soviet bloc country has tackled a different project in Guinea. The Poles are developing the fishing industry. The Czechs have built the tower at the airport and are working on a sports stadium. The Russians have built the radio station. The Bulgarians have brought in some veterinarians and some tapes for radio transcriptions. The Hungarians are working with the Guinea teachers.

The Yugoslavs, who don't actually belong to the Soviet bloc, but are Communists, are building a dam. But not all these Communist emissaries of reconstruction get along with each other.

The Yugoslavs, for instance, hate the Chinese, feel they are much more dangerous than the Russians — especially in Africa. There, the Chinese have the advantage of color. Bruce, now Ambassador to Great Britain, was Under Secretary of State from 1949 to 1952 in the Truman Administration.

What does all this prove? That experience counts in government and a President who needs a specialist for a particular job doesn't stop to think how a man might have voted before but considers primarily whether he has the knowledge and background to do the job. Nor is President Kennedy an exception in applying that rule in the White House.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

ALERT TEEN-AGER—A boy's sharp eye and retentive memory have resulted in the re-printing of a booklet on Lincoln to correct an error that had been missed by everyone else.

A 14-year-old Washington schoolboy, who incidentally got an "A" in history last term, found a discrepancy on the date that the last photograph of President Lincoln was taken.

He noted that a pamphlet at the Lincoln Museum issued by the National Park Service carried a picture of Lincoln said to have been taken on April 10,1865, four days before he was assassinated.

He also noted, in a non-governmental pamphlet on Lincoln photos, that the same picture of Lincoln was said to have been taken on April 9, 1865 a day earlier.

The boy wrote to Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall, and Udall put departmental historians to work to find out which date was correct.

It developed that, until 1944, the picture, known to be the last taken of Lincoln, was thought to have been snapped on April 9. But work by a noted collector of Lincoln photographs determined that the correct date of the photo was April 10.

Udall replied to the youngster, thanking him for his information and pointing out that the government pamphlet carries the correct date. But the publisher of the non-governmental booklet, who learned of the discrepancy from the youth's letter, is having his booklet reprinted.

A LITTLE LATE — New York City Mayor Robert F. Wagner dashed off a telegram to Sen. Kenneth B. Keating recently urging him to vote for the Kennedy administration's housing bill and listing the reasons why. The only trouble was that Wagner's wire was sent off weeks after the Senate had voted on the bill— in fact after the bill had become law.

Keating sent a responding wire advising the Mayor that he had voted for the bill, and adding this needle: "I hope that you will not hesitate to inform me in the future of your views on any legislation, but it is desirable that I should learn of these views before the legislation has actually passed."

Needless to say Wagner is a Democrat; Keating a Republican.

The Demise Of God

By John Crosby

"The big theological thing now going in intellectual circles is the celebration of the demise of God."

That's the lead sentence on a book review in "The Nation" and it's a dilly. In fact, any way you look at it, it's an extra-ordinary sentence. Demise of God? What's a story like that doing on page 209? Why not page 1?

And dig that style, man. "The big theological thing now going in intellectual circles." Whee! The book was written by Julian N. Hartt, professor of philosophical theology in Yale Divinity School and chairman of the department of religion at Yale University. Man, they didn't talk like that at the divinity school when I was at Yale.

So God is finished? Have they told Paramount? They may be able to get along without God in the churches but they're going to have a devil of a time managing in Hollywood where God has been big box office for years. And MGM just about to release "King of Kings"!

Mr. Hartt is reviewing three books at once — "The Death of God" by Gabriel Vahanian, "The Future of Unbelief" by Gerhard Szczesny, and "The Newtime Religion" by Clair Cox, and after that breathtaking opening sentence, he goes on to state: "Many deep thinkers are convinced that the Christian faith, though not yet the Christian church, is out of business."

All three books get bad notices, though some get worse than others. "Mrs. Cox has gathered many facts, rather more than this reader cares to think about." So much for Mrs. Cox. Then Mr. Hartt wheels up the heavy artillery. "Mr. Szczesny's performance is quite the worst of its sort to come this way in a good while . . . He contends that Christianity is no longer believable; and he declares that the substitute faiths of modernity are not viable."

Mr. Vahanian get more notice than the others. "He seeks to show how other forms of religiousness, other gods have arisen; and notably the exaltation of man himself to the position once enjoyed by Christ alone—"

Here Mr. Hartt takes a strong stand: "He does not know how many people still believe in God, nor does anybody else know. Then what evidence is available in support of the cry that God is dead?" Whatever it is, says Hartt, it isn't enough. While conceding that the "spokesmen of religious emptiness" contain many more prize-winners than those of piety, he's still among the last-named.

I'm surprised Mr. Hartt got through his essay without reference to Sir Julian Huxley, one of the more distinguished refuters of God around. Huxley has a new book out called "The Humanist Frame," in which he postulates an evolutionary religion to help us get along in a Godless universe.

If I understand Huxley correctly, and I think I do, he thinks the human race has simply outgrown God as a child outgrows a belief in Santa Claus and it's time for him to progress to other more mature religions.

"Evolutionary man can no longer take refuge from his loneliness by creeping for shelter into the arms of a divinized father-figure whom he has himself created nor escape from the responsibility of making decisions by sheltering under the umbrella of Divine Authority, nor absolve himself from the hard task of meeting his present problems and planning his future by relying on the will of an omniscient but unfortunately inscrutable Providence."

In other words, man, according to Huxley, should stop blaming God for his ills and take his fate in his own hands. And in a ringing and beautiful affirmation, he tells us to face our destiny and our duty with "courage tempered with wisdom and hope tempered with knowledge." The way Huxley puts it, Godlessness is a little like leaving home for the first time: scary but an inevitable part of mankind's maturity.

Much Remains To Be Learned About Epilepsy

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

A Pittsburgh woman makes the following comments: "Some of the best neurologists in the country, indeed the world, have told me epilepsy is a symptom and not a disease. There are numerous causes for such attacks. Let's not speak with such authority until we have some proved scientific facts."

Epilepsy is not a symptom. It is a neurological disorder and its victims become unconscious and/or develop convulsions. The convulsion is the symptom and there are many causes of such attacks. Our reader has confused the manifestation with the disease.

Convulsions may occur as a symptom of brain tumor or in infants due to the effects on the brain of fever. Epilepsy is considered when the convulsions come and go or develop for no apparent reason.

The electroencephalogram usually reveals a charasteristic abnormality of the brain waves. We do not know why. Our reader closes her letter with the sentence, "Basic research may some day surprise us all." When this day comes, epilepsy still will be a neurological disorder and the manifestations still will be the symptoms.

Most of today's research is concentrated on discovering drugs to eliminate or reduce the number of seizures. Products such as Dilantin, Peganone, or Milontin keep the attacks under control in 75 per cent of all epileptics.

Scientists are working to determine why the brain waves go berserk in these individuals. The answer may turn out to be a disturbance in the chemical balance of the body, a missing enzyme, a glandular disorder, or a metabolic deficiency.

(Dr. Van Dellen will send leaflet on epilepsy if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

TOMORROW: Retirement.

PAINFUL HIP

A. T. writes: What is the best exercise for a person with arthritis of one hip?

REPLY

FEARFUL

Mrs. J. S. writes: Which is better to cure fears—psycho-therapy or shock treatments?

REPLY

The best plan is to have a talk with a practical and sympathetic physician. If he thinks your fears are beyond reason, so that your thinking or behavior is distorted, psychiatric care may be suggested. Each case must be treated on an individual basis.

TALL GIRL

Mrs. R. B. writes: My 12 year old daughter is the tallest in her class. Is there any way further growth can be retarded?

REPLY

No. From this point on, her classmates may have a growth spurt and your daughter conceivably might end up shorter than her friends.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

The day after a sedate school teacher bought a second-hand sedan she drove it back to the dealers's yard.

"What's wrong?" asked the dealer anxiously.

"Nothing at all," said the teacher sweetly. "I just want to return these things for the dear little old lady you told me owned the car before you sold it to me. She left this plug of tobacco in the glove compartment, and this half-empty bottle of gin under the seat."

A young man once found a few dollar bills on the sidewalk. From that time on he never lifted his eyes from the ground while walking. In the course of thirty years he accumulated 25,916 buttons, 52,172 pins, seven pennies, a bent back, and sour, miserly disposition.

He lost the glories of the light, the smiles of his friends, the beauties of nature, and the opportunity to enjoy his fellow man and spread happiness.

You're Telling Me!

The new edition of the United Nations Statistical Yearbook reports that the Irish are the best fed folk on the face of the globe. Wouldn't know about that, but corned beef and cabbage sure ranks aces here!

And, come to think of it, Irish stew isn't even a little bit hard to take, either!

Annual loss to U. S. farmers from plant diseases, insects and weeds totals $13 billion. A mighty unlucky number!

One of the big stage hits in Peiping, China, is a play based on the "Uucle Tom's Cabin" story. Just 100 years behind.

A short cut, according to a philosopher, is not the road to success. Unless, of course, suggests Milt, the sterling printer, you happen to be slicing ham for some restaurant!

This year marks the centennial of the introduction of the pretzel, American style. We'd much rather celebrate that than the Civil War!

Terps Hold Light Grid Workouts

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—The University of Maryland football team held a light workout Monday in preparation for its game against Syracuse Saturday.

Coach Tom Nugent had the first two teams run through some light drills without pads while the third team, which didn't play in the 27-24 victory over Clemson last week, scrimmaged the freshmen.

Assistant Coach Frank Toomey, who has scouted the Syracuse this season, gave the Terps his report.

Navy Squad Now At Full Strength

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Navy's football squad returned to full strength Monday as it began workouts for Friday night's game at Miami.

Halfback Allen Hughes, who suffered a fractured jaw before fall practice began, was in uniform for the first time this season. Reserve end John Durden, out for four weeks with a knee injury, also returned to work.

Rookies Are Cut From Royals Roster

COLUMBUS (UPI)—The Cincinnati Royals Monday announced the release of two rookies from their pre-season training camp at Lockbourne Air Force Base near here.

They were forward Gerry Phelen of Villa Madonna College, Covington, Ky., and guard Jack Waters of the University of Mississippi.

Patriots Acquire Dick Chorovich

BOSTON (UPI) —The Boston Patriots of the American Football League Monday acquired defensive tackle Dick (The Whale) Chorovich in a trade with the San Diego Chargers.

The Patriots said that in return for Chorovich San Diego got Boston's No. 4 draft choice for 1962 plus rights to negotiate with quarterback Paul Terhes, formerly of Bucknell, who left the Patriots after their opening exhibition game Aug. 10.

NEW PILOT — Mel McGaha was promoted yesterday from first base coach to manager of the Cleveland Indians, getting a one-year contract to succeed Jimmy Dykes. Mel, who was 35 last week, is the youngest field manager in major league baseball. (AP Photofax).

Mel McGaha New Cleveland Indians Pilot

Becomes Youngest Manager In Majors

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Indians named Mel McGaha manager Monday, and the new pilot, youngest in the major leagues, got with his one-year contract the general manager's promise he would have the final word on player trades.

At the news conference where it also was announced Luke Appling will not be rehired as a coach, Tribe General Manager Gabe Paul said he is willing to trade three or four players, if necessary, for a good power hitter. Appling came here last year from Detroit with McGaha's predecessor, Jimmie Dykes.

"I won't make any deal without the agreement of the manager," said Paul as the 35-year-old McGaha sat smiling in a chair nearby. "There will be a lot of changes."

The 64-year-old Dykes, released Sunday in the Indians' finale in Los Angeles, said afterwards his successor's job next year will be "murder because there are too many lawyers on the club.

However, McGaha said Monday he can get along with all the players on the club, including volatile center fielder Jimmy Piersall.

Although Paul wants a long-ball hitter, he blamed the Indians' fifth-place finish this year on the collapse of the pitching staff.

The new manager said he shares the view, but feels that the experience of losing will aid his young pitching staff next season. "I'm sure some pitchers now realize they must add a new pitch or two next year to keep us up there," said McGaha. "We've got a good pitching nucleus."

McGaha, a native of Louisiana, was brought here by former General Manager Frank Lane as first base coach for the 1961 season. He is untested as a major league manager, but was successful in the minors. He led Mobile to two runner-up finishes in the Southern Association and piloted Toronto to the 1960 International League pennant.

A 1948 graduate of the University of Arkansas, McGaha played football well enough there to be drafted by the pros following his graduation. He was a pro basketball player, too, with the New York Knickerbockers of the National Basketball Association.

Mantle Doubtful Starter For Yankees In Series

Weak, Underweight Outfielder Misses New York Practice

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — Mickey Mantle said Monday it is doubtful whether he can play for the New York Yankees in Wednesday's opening World Series game with Cincinnati.

Pale, drawn and underweight after a minor operation of an abscess on his right hip, Mantle was unable to take part in the club's workout at Yankee Stadium after his release from the hospital.

"If I feel like this Wednesday," said a downcast Mantle, "I won't be able to play. I still feel very weak. The leg hurts. I can't run on it."

Mantle was heavily bandaged and taped around the hip and was loaded with antibiotics. He was discouraged at the prospects of missing part or all of another series. He has been sidelined by injuries three times during his eight previous series.

"You never can tell," he said. "Maybe it will get better quicker than I think. I hope so, but as of now I just don't know when I can play."

Houk Is Concerned

Dr. Sidney Gaynor, the Yanks' club physician, was more optimistic. He said he thinks the switch-hitting home run star will be ready for Wednesday's game.

Manager Ralph Houk said he was deeply concerned about Mantle's condition and his slow recovery since Thursday's operation. He repeated Dr. Gaynor's prediction but refrained from making one of his own.

"I've got to play it by ear," said Houk, who is going into his first series as manager. "I certainly wouldn't rush him. I'm going to leave it up to him. I know if Mickey says he's hurting, he's hurting."

If Mantle is out of action, Houk will move Roger Maris, the man who hit 61 home runs, from right field to center and play Hector Lopez or Johnny Blanchard, normally a catcher, in right. Against a left-handed pitcher, catcher Elston Howard would take over Mantle's No. 4 spot in the batting order, followed by Yogi Berra.

The Yanks will face a left-hander in the opener with Jim O'Toole (19-9) opposing another southpaw, Whitey Ford (25-4), the majors' top winner. Against O'Toole, Lopez would be in right field.

Maris, snowed under with offers after Sunday's record home run, took the day off while his teammates tuned up for the Reds. He visited Mantle in the hospital Sunday night and was excused by Houk because of a business appointment.

Reds Work Out

The threatened loss of Mantle would be a severe blow to the favored Yanks. Without Mantle in the No. 4 spot, Maris probably would be walked more often and would get fewer chances to swing that potent home run weapon.

Cincinnati had an advance delegation on hand Sunday to watch the Yanks in their finale. Pitchers Joey Jay and O'Toole, pitching coach Jim Turner and catcher Darrell Johnson were in the stands. The rest of the club came in Sunday night from Pittsburgh. Most of them got their first look at the Stadium this afternoon.

The Reds worked out for two hours with all the outfielders working in left field, supposedly the most difficult position in the stadium.

Freddie Hutchinson, the Reds' manager, said Wally Post will play right field in both games at New York and Frank Robinson will play left field. In Cincinnati Robinson will play right field and Post will alternate with Jerry Lynch in left, depending on the Yank pitching.

Hutchinson said first baseman Gordy Coleman and second baseman Don Blasingame will play "all the way" with no platooning. Both are left-handed batters.

Keyser and Romney junior varsity football teams battled to a 13-13 tie yesterday in a hard-fought game at Keyser. The deadlock was the first for Keyser's JVs who have won one game and lost two this season.

Halfback Freeland scored two touchdowns for Romney, the first on a 55-yard scamper in the second period which tied the score at 7-7 at halftime, and the second in the fourth quarter on a 7-yard jaunt which again deadlocked the outcome.

Keyser jumped off to the lead early in the second period when John Daskal caught a pass thrown by quarterback Dave Taylor good for 30 yards and a touchdown. Substitute Lou Alt ran seven yards for the second six-pointer in the third quarter.

The two teams were evenly matched in statistics also with Keyser registering five first downs and 150 net yards gained rushing and passing while Romney had four first downs and gained 149 net yards. The results:

Heavy Title Bout Is Set For Toronto

New Date Planned Tentatively Nov. 20

NEW YORK (UPI)—Floyd Patterson's heavyweight title defense against Tom McNeeley has been shifted from Boston to Toronto, Ont., United Press International learned authoritatively Monday night.

The new date at Toronto probably will be Nov. 20. Originally the 15-rounder between Patterson and unbeaten McNeeley of Arlington, Mass., was scheduled for the Boston Garden, Nov. 13.

Announcement of Toronto's selection as the new site will be made Tuesday, it was learned.

Promoter Tom Bolan of Championship Sports, Inc., pulled the fight out of disagreement between Patterson and the Massachusetts Boxing Commission, which Patterson accused of being slow in granting permission for an out-of-state referee to work the Boston fight.

Patterson, now training at Highland Mills, N. Y., Monday denied London reports that he had been negotiating for a London defense against England's Henry Cooper next May or June.

Stengel Names Lavagetto And Hemus Coaches

Needs Experience To Build New Team

NEW YORK (UPI) — Manager Casey Stengel of the New York Mets began rounding up a coaching staff for his new club Monday by signing former managers Cookie Lavagetto and Solly Hemus to "help me rebuild this new situation."

"I'm willing to give up my reputation to assist the Mets but I need experienced help which these men are," said Stengel, who was let out as manager of the New York Yankees last fall because of his age, now 71.

Lavagetto was fired as pilot of the Minnesota Twins on June 23 and Hemus was let out by the St. Louis Cardinals on July 6.

"But these men both had good records as managers in 1960 so do you think they both got stupid in just one year?" Stengel snorted. "And as for my age, nobody had to carry me out to the mound to change pitchers so my legs musta been good. And nobody had to tell me when to make the changes so my head musta been okay, too."

The Mets and new Houston Colts enter the National League next year when the circuit joins the American League in expansion to 10 teams. They'll obtain their experienced player personnel in a draft from rosters of the eight "old" teams in the league the day after the World Series.

Stengel said he had received "tremendous offers" from six other American League clubs — including Chicago, Detroit and Boston — but decided to accept the Met job "because George Weiss influenced me by getting on the phone too often."

Weiss, now president of the Mets, was fired as general manager of the Yankees a week before the axe fell on Casey and for the same reason of age.

Terps Hold Light Grid Workouts

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—The University of Maryland football team held a light workout Monday in preparation for its game against Syracuse Saturday.

Coach Tom Nugent had the first two teams run through some light drills without pads while the third team, which didn't play in the 27-24 victory over Clemson last week, scrimmaged the freshmen.

Assistant Coach Frank Toomey, who has scouted the Syracuse this season, gave the Terps his report.

Navy Squad Now At Full Strength

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Navy's football squad returned to full stength Monday as it began workouts for Friday night's game at Miami.

Halfback Allen Hughes, who suffered a fractured jaw before fall practice began, was in uniform for the first time this season. Reserve end John Durden, out for four weeks with a knee injury, also returned to work.

Rookies Are Cut From Royals Roster

COLUMBUS (UPI)—The Cincinnati Royals Monday announced the release of two rookies from their pre-season training camp at Lockbourne Air Force Base near here.

They were forward Gerry Phelen of Villa Madonna College, Covington, Ky., and guard Jack Waters of the University of Mississippi.

Patriots Acquire Dick Chorovich

BOSTON (UPI) —The Boston Patriots of the American Football League Monday acquired defensive tackle Dick (The Whale) Chorovich in a trade with the San Diego Chargers.

The Patriots said that in return for Chorovich San Diego got Boston's No. 4 draft choice for 1962 plus rights to negotiate with quarterback Paul Terhes, formerly of Bucknell, who left the Patriots after their opening exhibition game Aug. 10.

NEW PILOT — Mel McGaha was promoted yesterday from first base coach to manager of the Cleveland Indians, getting a one-year contract to succeed Jimmy Dykes. Mel, who was 35 last week, is the youngest field manager in major league baseball. (AP Photofax).

Mel McGaha New Cleveland Indians Pilot

Becomes Youngest Manager In Majors

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Indians named Mel McGaha manager Monday, and the new pilot, youngest in the major leagues, got with his one-year contract the general manager's promise he would have the final word on player trades.

At the news conference where it also was announced Luke Appling will not be rehired as a coach, Tribe General Manager Gabe Paul said he is willing to trade three or four players, if necessary, for a good power hitter. Appling came here last year from Detroit with McGaha's predecessor, Jimmie Dykes.

"I won't make any deal without the agreement of the manager," said Paul as the 35-year-old McGaha sat smiling in a chair nearby. "There will be a lot of changes."

The 64-year-old Dykes, released Sunday in the Indians' finale in Los Angeles, said afterwards his successor's job next year will be "murder because there are too many lawyers on the club.

However, McGaha said Monday he can get along with all the players on the club, including volatile center fielder Jimmy Piersall.

Although Paul wants a long-ball hitter, he blamed the Indians' fifth-place finish this year on the collapse of the pitching staff.

The new manager said he shares the view, but feels that the experience of losing will aid his young pitching staff next season. "I'm sure some pitchers now realize they must add a new pitch or two next year to keep us up there," said McGaha. "We've got a good pitching nucleus."

McGaha, a native of Louisiana, was brought here by former General Manager Frank Lane as first base coach for the 1961 season. He is untested as a major league manager, but was successful in the minors. He led Mobile to two runner-up finishes in the Southern Association and piloted Toronto to the 1960 International League pennant.

A 1948 graduate of the University of Arkansas, McGaha played football well enough there to be drafted by the pros following his graduation. He was a pro basketball player, too, with the New York Knickerbockers of the National Basketball Association.

Mantle Doubtful Starter For Yankees In Series

Weak, Underweight Outfielder Misses New York Practice

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — Mickey Mantle said Monday it is doubtful whether he can play for the New York Yankees in Wednesday's opening World Series game with Cincinnati.

Pale, drawn and underweight after a minor operation of an abscess on his right hip, Mantle was unable to take part in the club's workout at Yankee Stadium after his release from the hospital.

"If I feel like this Wednesday," said a downcast Mantle, "I won't be able to play. I still feel very weak. The leg hurts. I can't run on it."

Mantle was heavily bandaged and taped around the hip and was loaded with antibiotics. He was discouraged at the prospects of missing part or all of another series. He has been sidelined by injuries three times during his eight previous series.

"You never can tell," he said. "Maybe it will get better quicker than I think. I hope so, but as of now I just don't know when I can play."

Houk Is Concerned

Dr. Sidney Gaynor, the Yanks' club physician, was more optimistic. He said he thinks the switch-hitting home run star will be ready for Wednesday's game.

Manager Ralph Houk said he was deeply concerned about Mantle's condition and his slow recovery since Thursday's operation. He repeated Dr. Gaynor's prediction but refrained from making one of his own.

"I've got to play it by ear," said Houk, who is going into his first series as manager. "I certainly wouldn't rush him. I'm going to leave it up to him. I know if Mickey says he's hurting, he's hurting."

If Mantle is out of action, Houk will move Roger Maris, the man who hit 61 home runs, from right field to center and play Hector Lopez or Johnny Blanchard, normally a catcher, in right. Against a left-handed pitcher, catcher Elston Howard would take over Mantle's No. 4 spot in the batting order, followed by Yogi Berra.

The Yanks will face a left-hander in the opener with Jim O'Toole (19-9) opposing another southpaw, Whitey Ford (25-4), the majors' top winner. Against O'Toole, Lopez would be in right field.

Maris, snowed under with offers after Sunday's record home run, took the day off while his teammates tuned up for the Reds. He visited Mantle in the hospital Sunday night and was excused by Houk because of a business appointment.

Reds Work Out

The threatened loss of Mantle would be a severe blow to the favored Yanks. Without Mantle in the No. 4 spot, Maris probably would be walked more often and would get fewer chances to swing that potent home run weapon.

Cincinnati had an advance delegation on hand Sunday to watch the Yanks in their finale. Pitchers Joey Jay and O'Toole, pitching coach Jim Turner and catcher Darrell Johnson were in the stands. The rest of the club came in Sunday night from Pittsburgh. Most of them got their first look at the Stadium this afternoon.

The Reds worked out for two hours with all the outfielders working in left field, supposedly the most difficult position in the stadium.

Freddie Hutchinson, the Reds' manager, said Wally Post will play right field in both games at New York and Frank Robinson will play left field. In Cincinnati Robinson will play right field and Post will alternate with Jerry Lynch in left, depending on the Yank pitching.

Hutchinson said first baseman Gordy Coleman and second baseman Don Blasingame will play "all the way" with no platooning. Both are left-handed batters.

Keyser jumped off to the lead early in the second period when John Daskal caught a pass thrown by quarterback Dave Taylor good for 30 yards and a touchdown. Substitute Lou Alt ran seven yards for the second six-pointer in the third quarter.

The two teams were evenly matched in statistics also with Keyser registering five first downs and 150 net yards gained rushing and passing while Romney had four first downs and gained 149 net yards. The results:

Heavy Title Bout Is Set For Toronto

New Date Planned Tentatively Nov. 20

NEW YORK (UPI)—Floyd Patterson's heavyweight title defense against Tom McNeeley has been shifted from Boston to Toronto, Ont., United Press International learned authoritatively Monday night.

The new date at Toronto probably will be Nov. 20. Originally the 15-rounder between Patterson and unbeaten McNeeley of Arlington, Mass., was scheduled for the Boston Garden, Nov. 13.

Announcement of Toronto's selection as the new site will be made Tuesday, it was learned.

Promoter Tom Bolan of Championship Sports, Inc., pulled the fight out of disagreement between Patterson and the Massachusetts Boxing Commission, which Patterson accused of being slow in granting permission for an out-of-state referee to work the Boston fight.

Patterson, now training at Highland Mills, N. Y., Monday denied London reports that he had been negotiating for a London defense against England's Henry Cooper next May or June.

Stengel Names Lavagetto And Hemus Coaches

Needs Experience To Build New Team

NEW YORK (UPI) — Manager Casey Stengel of the New York Mets began rounding up a coaching staff for his new club Monday by signing former managers Cookie Lavagetto and Solly Hemus to "help me rebuild this new situation."

"I'm willing to give up my reputation to assist the Mets but I need experienced help which these men are," said Stengel, who was let out as manager of the New York Yankees last fall because of his age, now 71.

Lavagetto was fired as pilot of the Minnesota Twins on June 23 and Hemus was let out by the St. Louis Cardinals on July 6.

"But these men both had good records as managers in 1960 so do you think they both got stupid in just one year?" Stengel snorted. "And as for my age, nobody had to carry me out to the mound to change pitchers so my legs musta been good. And nobody had to tell me when to make the changes so my head musta been okay, too."

The Mets and new Houston Colts enter the National League next year when the circuit joins the American League in expansion to 10 teams. They'll obtain their experienced player personnel in a draft from rosters of the eight "old" teams in the league the day after the World Series.

Stengel said he had received "tremendous offers" from six other American League clubs — including Chicago, Detroit and Boston — but decided to accept the Met job "because George Weiss influenced me by getting on the phone too often."

Weiss, now president of the Mets, was fired as general manager of the Yankees a week before the axe fell on Casey and for the same reason of age.

Two All-Star Games Get Approval

Major Leagues To Take Final Action

NEW YORK (UPI)—A proposal that two major league all - star baseball games be played again next season was approved Monday by a special committee of club owners and players.

Final approval, or rejection, however, will not come until the major league meeting at Miami Beach, Fla., in December.

Two all-star games were played this season for the third consecutive year but it has been reported that club owners were not in favor of the two meetings. The players are reportedly backing two games in 1962 because the proceeds from the contests go into their pension fund.

The committee met Monday with baseball Commissioner Ford Frick who indicated that approval of the proposal was not unanimous.

"It was a majority recommendation," he said, "by a committee representing the major league club owners and the major league players."

Big 10 Backs Bowl Contract

Minnesota Casts Deciding Ballot

CHICAGO (AP) — The Big Ten voted Sunday in favor of negotiating for a Rose Bowl football contract with the Athletic Association of Western Universities (Big Five).

The vote was a required majority of 6-4, with Minnesota casting the deciding ballot. The Gophers, who lost to Washington, 17-7, in the Rose Bowl last New Year's Day, previously had been against the post-season classic.

After making the trip to Pasadena, however, Minnesota's faculty was so pleased with the way the game was conducted that it reversed its stand and Sunday joined Michigan, Michigan State, Iowa, Purdue and Indiana in favoring negotiations for another contract.

Illinois, Ohio State, Northwestern and Wisconsin remained against it.

The measure now must be reviewed by each individual school before a final vote is taken at the Big Ten winter meetings in Chicago Dec. 7-9. Sunday's action provided the ground work and what follows is considered mainly a formality.

DeMaggio To Toss First Series Ball

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Yankees announced Monday that former New York star and Hall of Famer Joe DiMaggio will throw out the first ball on Wednesday when the Yankees take on the Cincinnati Reds in the opening game of the 1961 World Series.

The occasion will mark the 25th anniversary of the day DiMaggio played in his World Series game as a rookie outfielder in 1936. DiMaggio hit .346 in that series which the Yankees won four games to two, over the New York Giants.

Hawkeyes Retain First Place Grip In AP Poll

Ole Miss Second; Other Positions Rather Scrambled

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Iowa's Hawkeyes maintained their grip on the No. 1 spot among the nation's football teams Tuesday, and powerful Mississippi continued as the No. 2 team.

The weekly poll of the Associated Press board of experts gave the two clubs over three-quarters of the first-place votes and a majority of those for second place. Both were 1-2 after the first weekly poll.

But after the Hawkeyes and Ole Miss, things became rather scrambled. Georgia Tech, not among the top ten a week ago, zoomed into third place, after walloping a strong Rice team 24-0 Saturday for its second victory in as many starts.

Alabama remained fourth. Others, in order, were Texas, Michigan State, Syracuse, Ohio State, Michigan and Baylor.

The last two were not among the elite last week, either, but UCLA, ninth last week, and Penn State, eighth, both were losers over the weekend and dropped out, as did Rice, seventh a week ago.

Iowa's 28-7 victory over California was not unexpected, though the Hawkeyes held only a 14-7 halftime lead. However, their talented team, headed by an all veteran backfield, played at its own pace in the second half.

Ole Miss, now 2-0, had to work for its 20-6 victory over a tough Kentucky team, finishing strong under the guidance of quarterback Doug Elmore.

Tech is the big surprise. It opened the season with a 27-7 victory over Southern Cal, and passed its first stern test in handling Rice easily. The Owls had sped by a strong LSU team the week before and were favored over the Tech.

Alabama had trouble with Tulane before winning 9-0, but Texas, rising a spot, romped over Texas Tech 42-14. Michigan State, figured to contend for the Big Ten title along with Iowa and Ohio State, also won handily, beating Wisconsin 20-0 and rising from 10th place.

Syracuse, now 2-0, beat West Virginia 29-14, but dropped from fifth a week ago. Ohio State was surprised by Texas Christian, which held the Buckeyes to a 7-7 tie. But TCU was no patsy, having upset Kansas the previous week. The tie dropped the Buckeyes from third.

Michigan, knocking off UCLA handily 29-6, and Baylor, coming from behind to beat Pitt 16-13, were both considered darkhorses for the season. Baylor's victory was its second.

The top 10 teams—first place votes in parentheses:

Iowa (24)	434
Mississippi (16)	325
Georgia Tech (5)	266

Twins Ask Waivers On Lepcio, Stobbs

MINNEAPOLIS — ST. PAUL (UPI) — The Minnesota Twins Monday asked waivers on veterans Ted Lepcio, an infielder, and pitcher Chuck Stobbs.

The Twins said the waivers were asked to give the players their unconditional release.

Stobbs pitched only 44 2-3 innings this season, all in relief. He had a 2-3 won-loss record and a 7.44 earned run average.

Lepcio, who joined the Twins at mid-season, hit .167 for Minnesota.

The Twins also announced they have obtained pitcher Sandy Valdespino from Syracuse in return for pinchhitter-infielder Julio Becquer and pitchers Bert Cueto, Fred Bruckbauer and Pete Cimino from Wilson of the Carolina League.

Catcher Ron Henry of the Twins also was sent to Syracuse.

U.S. Defeats India, 3-2, In Cup Playoffs

Reed Is Victor In Deciding Match

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—The United States Davis Cup tennis team won a trip to play Italy in Rome — where Capt. David L. Freed said prospects are "pretty dismal" — by downing India 3-2 Monday in the interzone finals.

The American team clinched the victory in the fourth singles match, the first of two on Monday's program, when Whitney Reed, of Alameda, Calif., beat Jaidip Mukerjea, 19, in straight sets, 6-2, 6-3, 6-3.

In the fifth match, reduced to a formality, India ace Ramanathan Krishnan beat Chuck McKinley of St. Louis in the tourney's best match, 6-4, 4-6, 1-6, 6-3, 6-4.

But Freed was far from optimistic about the upcoming series with the Italian team, Oct. 13-15. The winners will advance to the challenge round against Australia later in December.

Last year, the Italians, led by gangling Nicola Pietrangeli, beat the U.S. but later lost to the Aussies.

"It's tough to say what our chances are until we know who we can get to play," Freed said, "and the prospects are pretty dismal."

McKinley, 19, who won one singles match and teamed with Don Dell on the victorious doubles team, has to go back to school at Trinity (Tex.) University, where he is a sophomore.

But if university officials heed a plea from John Kenneth Galbraith, U.S. ambassador to India and himself a Harvard University professor, Freed may be able to keep McKinley. Galbraith wired Trinity officials, urging an extension of McKinley's leave.

If it doesn't work, then Freed will ask Bernard (Tut) Bartzen of Houston to come to Rome and play in the singles.

Two All-Star Games Get Approval

Major Leagues To Take Final Action

NEW YORK (UPI)—A proposal that two major league all - star baseball games be played again next season was approved Monday by a special committee of club owners and players.

Final approval, or rejection, however, will not come until the major league meeting at Miami Beach, Fla., in December.

Two all-star games were played this season for the third consecutive year but it has been reported that club owners were not in favor of the two meetings. The players are reportedly backing two games in 1962 because the proceeds from the contests go into their pension fund.

The committee met Monday with baseball Commissioner Ford Frick who indicated that approval of the proposal was not unanimous.

"It was a majority recommendation," he said, "by a committee representing the major league club owners and the major league players."

Big 10 Backs Bowl Contract

Minnesota Casts Deciding Ballot

CHICAGO (AP) — The Big Ten voted Sunday in favor of negotiating for a Rose Bowl football contract with the Athletic Association of Western Universities (Big Five).

The vote was a required majority of 6-4, with Minnesota casting the deciding ballot. The Gophers, who lost to Washington, 17-7, in the Rose Bowl last New Year's Day, previously had been against the post-season classic.

After making the trip to Pasadena, however, Minnesota's faculty was so pleased with the way the game was conducted that it reversed its stand and Sunday joined Michigan, Michigan State, Iowa, Purdue and Indiana in favoring negotiations for another contract.

Illinois, Ohio State, Northwestern and Wisconsin remained against it.

The measure now must be reviewed by each individual school before a final vote is taken at the Big Ten winter meetings in Chicago Dec. 7-9. Sunday's action provided the ground work and what follows is considered mainly a formality.

DeMaggio To Toss First Series Ball

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Yankees announced Monday that former New York star and Hall of Famer Joe DiMaggio will throw out the first ball on Wednesday when the Yankees take on the Cincinnati Reds in the opening game of the 1961 World Series.

The occasion will mark the 25th anniversary of the day DiMaggio played in his World Series game as a rookie outfielder in 1936. DiMaggio hit .346 in that series which the Yankees won four games to two, over the New York Giants.

Hawkeyes Retain First Place Grip In AP Poll

Ole Miss Second; Other Positions Rather Scrambled

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Iowa's Hawkeyes maintained their grip on the No. 1 spot among the nation's football teams Tuesday, and powerful Mississippi continued as the No. 2 team.

The weekly poll of the Associated Press board of experts gave the two clubs over three-quarters of the first-place votes and a majority of those for second place. Both were 1-2 after the first weekly poll.

But after the Hawkeyes and Ole Miss, things became rather scrambled. Georgia Tech, not among the top ten a week ago, zoomed into third place, after walloping a strong Rice team 24-0 Saturday for its second victory in as many starts.

Alabama remained fourth. Others, in order, were Texas, Michigan State, Syracuse, Ohio State, Michigan and Baylor.

The last two were not among the elite last week, either, but UCLA, ninth last week, and Penn State, eighth, both were losers over the weekend and dropped out, as did Rice, seventh a week ago.

Iowa's 28-7 victory over California was not unexpected, though the Hawkeyes held only a 14-7 halftime lead. However, their talented team, headed by an all veteran backfield, played at its own pace in the second half.

Ole Miss, now 2-0, had to work for its 20-6 victory over a tough Kentucky team, finishing strong under the guidance of quarterback Doug Elmore.

Tech is the big surprise. It opened the season with a 27-7 victory over Southern Cal, and passed its first stern test in handling Rice easily. The Owls had sped by a strong LSU team the week before and were favored over the Tech.

Alabama had trouble with Tulane before winning 9-0, but Texas, rising a spot, romped over Texas Tech 42-14. Michigan State, figured to contend for the Big Ten title along with Iowa and Ohio State, also won handily, beating Wisconsin 20-0 and rising from 10th place.

Syracuse, now 2-0, beat West Virginia 29-14, but dropped from fifth a week ago. Ohio State was surprised by Texas Christian, which held the Buckeyes to a 7-7 tie. But TCU was no patsy, having upset Kansas the previous week. The tie dropped the Buckeyes from third.

Michigan, knocking off UCLA handily 29-6, and Baylor, coming from behind to beat Pitt 16-13, were both considered darkhorses for the season. Baylor's victory was its second.

The top 10 teams—first place votes in parentheses:

Iowa (24)	434
Mississippi (16)	325
Georgia Tech (5)	266
Alabama (1)	259
Texas (2)	218
Michigan State (1)	203
Syracuse	191
Ohio State	128
Michigan	123
Baylor	117

Others receiving votes: Notre Dame, Navy, Maryland, Miami (Fla.), Auburn, Missouri, Northwestern, TCU, Army, Stanford, Penn State, Washington, Duke, Utah State, Colorado, Memphis State, Rice, Purdue, LSU, Kansas, North Carolina, Southern California.

Detroit Hurler Escapes Charges In Morals Case

DETROIT (UPI) — Manuel (Pepe) Montejo, 25 year old Cuban righthanded pitcher for the Detroit Tigers, was released without any charges being filed Monday after telling the prosecutor's office circumstances under which a 14 year old Dearborn girl was found in his apartment Saturday.

Montejo had been arrested for investigation of statutory rape.

But the prosecutor's office said an examination showed he had not had sexual relations with the girl.

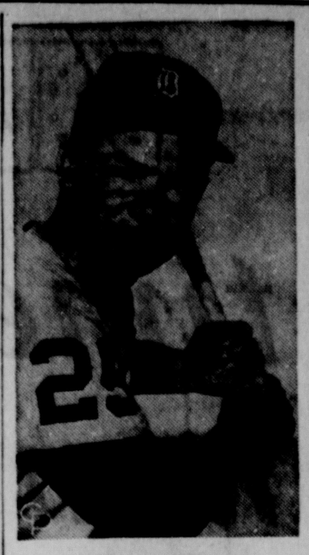

Both the girl and Montejo said she had told him she was 19 years old. She stayed in his apartment overnight Saturday.

An official in the prosecutor's office said it was a case of a "celebrity conscious bobby-soxer throwing herself at Montejo" and that he was not the aggressor.

Cumberland VFW Edges Hyndman To Gain Finals

Play Greenpoint For Title Tonight; Elliott Victor, 3-2

The Cumberland VFW, champions of the Rocking Chair Softball League, advanced to the finals of the Western Maryland Softball Tournament last night by edging the Hyndman Vets, 3-2, at Penn Avenue field and will clash with Greenpoint Inn's Old Exports for the tournament crown tonight at 6:30 p. m.

Pete Elliott effectively scattered 10 hits and blanked the Hyndman tossers after the first inning as and the County Softball League playoff champions.

Manager Cecil Grimes' charges won the game in the seventh inning when they broke a 2-2 deadlock by scoring without the aid of a hit.

With one out Elliott walked and when the second baseman missed second base on Ted Durbin's ground ball both runners were ruled safe on the fielder's choice. Mil Dean then strolled to load the bases and Elliott scored the winning run on Jimmy Eckard's sacrifice fly to left field.

The victors tallied in the first inning when Durbin singled, Dean walked and Vern Penner plated the tally with another single. In the fourth the Cumberland team tied the score on Penner's double and a single by Ronnie Cage.

Hyndman tallied both its runs in the first inning off Elliott who then settled down and did not permit a runner past second base the remainder of the game although touched for 10 hits.

Dick Emerick and Pep May singled to open the Hyndman rally and Joe Sager's double scored Emerick. May continued in with the second run when Sager's drive wah bobbled in left field.

Brelsford held the winners to four hits with Penner collecting half of them on his double and single. Emerick, May and Don Shaffer shared six of the losers' bingles while Sager had a two-bagger. The results:

Cumberland VFW	100	100	1	3	4
Hyndman VFW	200	000	0	2	10

Pete Elliott and Ronnie Cage. Junior Brelsford and Jim Shaffer.

Beall High's Jayvees scored on a 15-yard pass with less than four minutes to play, then made a goal line stand to halt Allegany High's Junior Varsity in the final seconds to defeat the Little Camper's, 12-7, yesterday at Frostburg.

The triumph was the first for Beall's JVs who dropped their opening game to Meyersdale last week. The Little Campers made their 1961 debut in yesterday's encounter.

Don Frazier scored both Beall touchdowns on passes from quarterback Mike Davis, the first on a 35-yard play with less than two minutes remaining in the first half, and then snagging the winning tally in the end zone with just under four minutes left in the game.

Allegany punched over its only touchdown late in the second quarter when Danny Darr scored from the four to cap a long Camper drive. Richard Keller ran the extra point to give the visitors a brief 7-0 lead.

Following Beall's winning touchdown, Allegany took the kickoff and drove to the Little Mountaineers' five with one minute remaining. But Beall threw back four Camper thrusts at the line to take over on downs as the game ended. The lineups:

Sandusky Suffered Bad Ankle Sprain

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Pittsburgh Steeler Guard Mike Sandusky, injured in Sunday's game with the Los Angeles Rams, suffered a severe ankle sprain and not a fracture as it was first feared.

Sandusky underwent X-ray examinations at Mercy Hospital on Monday which showed no bone breaks. After the game with the Rams it was feared that Sandusky had broken his leg.

He was injured tackling linebacker Jack Pardee on the two-yard line after the Rams had intercepted a Bobby Layne pass in the end zone.

When golfer Doug Sanders finished second in the Dallas Open on Labor Day it marked his fourth second place finish during 1961. He also won four tournaments.

Detroit Hurler Escapes Charges In Morals Case

DETROIT (UPI) — Manuel (Pepe) Montejo, 25 year old Cuban righthanded pitcher for the Detroit Tigers, was released without any charges being filed Monday after telling the prosecutor's office circumstances under which a 14 year old Dearborn girl was found in his apartment Saturday.

Montejo had been arrested for investigation of statutory rape.

But the prosecutor's office said an examination showed he had not had sexual relations with the girl.

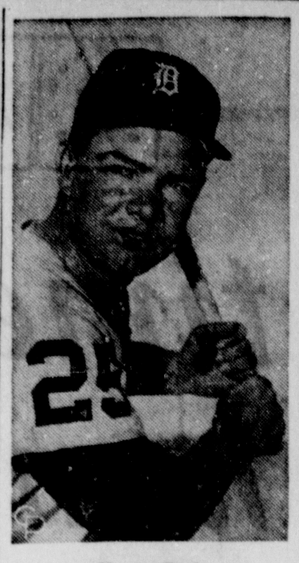

Both the girl and Montejo said she had told him she was 19 years old. She stayed in his apartment overnight Saturday.

An official in the prosecutor's office said it was a case of a "celebrity conscious bobby-soxer throwing herself at Montejo" and that he was not the aggressor.

Cumberland VFW Edges Hyndman To Gain Finals

Play Greenpoint For Title Tonight; Elliott Victor, 3-2

The Cumberland VFW, champions of the Rocking Chair Softball League, advanced to the finals of the Western Maryland Softball Tournament last night by edging the Hyndman Vets, 3-2, at Penn Avenue field and will clash with Greenpoint Inn's Old Exports for the tournament crown tonight at 6:30 p. m.

Pete Elliott effectively scattered 10 hits and blanked the Hyndman tossers after the first inning as and the County Softball League playoff champions.

Manager Cecil Grimes' charges won the game in the seventh inning when they broke a 2-2 deadlock by scoring without the aid of a hit.

With one out Elliott walked and when the second baseman missed second base on Ted Durbin's ground ball both runners were ruled safe on the fielder's choice. Mil Dean then strolled to load the bases and Elliott scored the winning run on Jimmy Eckard's sacrifice fly to left field.

The victors tallied in the first inning when Durbin singled, Dean walked and Vern Penner plated the tally with another single. In the fourth the Cumberland team tied the score on Penner's double and a single by Ronnie Cage.

Hyndman tallied both its runs in the first inning off Elliott who then settled down and did not permit a runner past second base the remainder of the game although touched for 10 hits.

Dick Emerick and Pep May singled to open the Hyndman rally and Joe Sager's double scored Emerick. May continued in with the second run when Sager's drive wah bobbled in left field.

Brelsford held the winners to four hits with Penner collecting half of them on his double and single. Emerick, May and Don Shaffer shared six of the losers' bingles while Sager had a two-bagger. The results:

Cumberland VFW	100	100	1	3	4 1
Hyndman VFW	200	000	0	2	10 1

Pete Elliott and Ronnie Cage. Junior Brelsford and Jim Shaffer.

Beall High's Jayvees scored on a 15-yard pass with less than four minutes to play, then made a goal line stand to halt Allegany High's Junior Varsity in the final seconds to defeat the Little Camper's, 12-7, yesterday at Frostburg.

The triumph was the first for Beall's JVs who dropped their opening game to Meyersdale last week. The Little Campers made their 1961 debut in yesterday's encounter.

Don Frazier scored both Beall touchdowns on passes from quarterback Mike Davis, the first on a 35-yard play with less than two minutes remaining in the first half, and then snagging the winning tally in the end zone with just under four minutes left in the game.

Allegany punched over its only touchdown late in the second quarter when Danny Darr scored from the four to cap a long Camper drive. Richard Keller ran the extra point to give the visitors a brief 7-0 lead.

Following Beall's winning touchdown, Allegany took the kickoff and drove to the Little Mountaineers' five with one minute remaining. But Beall threw back four Camper thrusts at the line to take over on downs as the game ended. The lineups:

Sandusky Suffered Bad Ankle Sprain

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Pittsburgh Steeler Guard Mike Sandusky, injured in Sunday's game with the Los Angeles Rams, suffered a severe ankle sprain and not a fracture as it was first feared.

Sandusky underwent X-ray examinations at Mercy Hospital on Monday which showed no bone breaks. After the game with the Rams it was feared that Sandusky had broken his leg.

He was injured tackling linebacker Jack Pardee on the two-yard line after the Rams had intercepted a Bobby Layne pass in the end zone.

When golfer Doug Sanders finished second in the Dallas Open on Labor Day it marked his fourth second place finish during 1961. He also won four tournaments.

MARGARET E. FRY VS. GEORGE FRY. NO 26384 EQUITY IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR ALLEGANY COUNTY, MARYLAND.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to procure a divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII.

The Bill states that the Complainant is an adult resident of Allegany County, and on December 15, 1945, was married to the Defendant at Shelby, Ohio, by a duly ordained minister; that no children were born of said marriage; that the Complainant and the Defendant have voluntarily lived separate and apart, without any cohabitation, for more than eighteen months prior to the filing of the Bill of Complaint, and there is no reasonable hope of a reconciliation; that the said Defendant, George Fry, is a non-resident of the State of Maryland.

It is thereupon this 8th day of September, 1961, ordered by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, in Equity, that the Complainant cause a copy of this Order, with the object of said Bill of Complaint to be inserted in some daily newspaper published in Allegany County, Maryland, once a week for four successive weeks before the 9 day of October, 1961, giving notice to the said George Fry to be and appear in this Court in person or by Solicitor on or before the 10th day of November, 1961, to show cause, if any he have, why a decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

Market Closes Irregular As Volume Takes Drop

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks turned in a ragged performance on reduced volume Monday.

Trading dropped to 2,800,000 shares from 3,060,000 on Friday. Of the 1,259 issues traded 483 advanced, 44 to new highs and 518 declined, 31 to new lows.

Standard & Poor's comprehensive 500-stock index showed a minor gain of 0.04 but Dow-Jones 30 industrials declined 1.38, featuring losses of a point or more in Allied Chemical, Chrysler, General Electric, United Aircraft and Woolworth. Owens-Illinois, up 1½, was an upside highlight.

Dow-Jones rails closed at 144.28 for a gain of 0.32 while 15 utilities climbed 0.92 to a new post-1929 peak of 123.36, with public service electric & Gas ahead 2 points.

Brunswick was the most active issue, rising ⅛ on 48,300 shares. It was followed by Revlon up 2¾, Korvette up 5¾, Ampex up ¼ and Jersey Standard up j1.

General Motors, up ⅛, Ford off ½, and jstudebaker down ⅛ were also in the active list but turnover was smaller in the widest moving auto issue, Chrysler which shed 1¼. American Motors dropped ¼.

Bethlehem and U.S. Steel were unchanged in their section while Lukens dipped 1¾ and Youngstown and Republic large fractions. The losses showed up despite a rise in industry output last week.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Edwin M. (Eddie) Reed, who passed away 7 years ago, October 1st, 1954.
When the evening shades are falling,
And we are sad and all alone.
In our hearts there comes a longing,
If only you would come home.
Often our thoughts do wander,
To the grave not far away.
Sadly missed by his MOTHER, WIFE, CHILDREN & SISTERS

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Edwin M. (Eddie) Reed, who passed away 7 years ago, October 1st, 1954.
When the evening shades are falling,
And we are sad and all alone.
In our hearts there comes a longing,
If only you would come home.
Often our thoughts do wander,
To the grave not far away.
Sadly missed by his
MOTHER, WIFE, CHILDREN & SISTERS

150 Persons Give Blood To Red Cross

Frostburg Visit Scheduled Today

The quota of 150 pints of blood was met yesterday when the Red Cross Bloodmobile unit visited the Eagles Home on North Mechanic Street.

Mrs. John D. Lohnas, blood recruitment chairman for Cumberland, said 134 persons were scheduled to give a pint of blood and 66 kept their appointment.

Some 96 "walk-ins" dropped by the Eagles Home and gave blood, according to Mrs. Lohnas who said 20 donors gave for the first time.

Three persons became members of the four-gallon club. They are Mrs. Elsie Ross, Rawlings; Richard L. Bucy and Mrs. Mina A. Ayers, both of Bowling Green.

Miss Erma Paul, 251 Henderson Avenue, and Michael Lindner, 837 Gephart Drive, joined the three-gallon club.

Those who joined the two-gallon club are Paul A. Evans, Hyndman, Pa.; Roy F. Owens, Fort Ashby, and Mervin Friend, Cresaptown.

Five donors joined the one-gallon club. They are Mrs. Iris E. Shipley, RD 1, city, William Derlas, 325 Arch Street, Walter B. Orndorff, 68 Boone Street, Paul G. Smith, RD 5, city and Mrs. Eleanor Leutert, 514 Montreal Avenue.

Physicians on duty yesterday were Dr. Leland B. Ranson and Dr. Robert Feddis.

Today the bloodmobile unit will be at the American Legion Home in Frostburg from 12 noon until 6 p.m.

On November 6 the unit will visit the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company plant at North Branch and on the following day will be at the VFW home in Lonaconing, she said.

LaVale Firemen Seek Funds

The LaVale Volunteer Fire Company, in its annual fund raising drive this month, is seeking a goal of $7,500. Some 100 citizens of the community are getting behind the drive and will assist in the house-to-house canvass of about 1,200 homes in the growing community. Some 90 business places are being contacted this week and homes will be contacted beginning next week. Cromwell Zembower, on the left, and George Hickle, co-chairmen are standing by the drive thermometer. Mrs. Lloyd Buchanan, chairman of the Board of Directors of the LaVale Civic Improvement Association, is cooperating fully in the project. Proceeds will be used to retire the debt on new apparatus purchased last winter and maintenance of the company's other equipment.

Classification Plan Is Backed By City Board

The prompt adoption of a proposed new job classification and pay plan has been recommended by the Cumberland Civil Service Commission.

The recommendation was included in a letter from the board which was ordered filed at yesterday's meeting of the Mayor and Council.

Action is anticipated when an ordinance embodying proposed changes is presented for consideration of city officials.

The merit pay plan was prepared by Milton B. Millon, director of the Municipal Technical Advisory Service of the University of Maryland, based on job descriptions made for the city by the Department of Employment Security.

The commission also recommended that the Mayor and Council send a letter of thanks to Stephen C. Cromwell, executive director of the DES, and to Mr. Millon for the fine work done on "this worthwhile project."

Council referred to Finance Commissioner Lucile Roeder an application from S. Schwab Company, 900 Frederick Street, for a 10-year tax exemption for a recently completed addition to its factory.

The local, knitwear firm, through Leonard C. Schwab, said Allegany County has already granted such an exemption for the addition which cost over $10,000.

Bids for uniforms and a station wagon sought by the Police Department were opened.

Three firms bid for the 56 patrolman's uniforms sought. Metro Clothes, 25 Baltimore Street, bid $56.45 for each uniform; Joe Ottieri, 115 North Centre Street, $68.75, and Nationwide Clothiers, by OPO, 29 Baltimore Street, $98.50.

Station wagon bids were submitted by Gratton-Ford, Inc., for $2,319.54; Gurley, $2,481.36; McIntyre Chevrolet, $2,490, and Light and Decker, $2,507.

Bids were referred to Police Commissioner Philmore Fleming for tabulation and report.

Mrs. Betty Foster will direct the class in the planning of better menus for holiday meals, use of leftovers, and lunches for working men. There also will be lectures for local home economists.

Ben Haines, Y program director, said interested women may contact the Y to enroll in the class.

County Building Shows Seasonal Tapering Signs

A tapering off in building permit activity was observed last month but September was still well ahead of the same month of 1960 in both the number of permits and estimated cost of construction.

In the month which ended Saturday, some 42 permits were issued in the office of James G. Stevenson, clerk to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, and the total estimated cost of construction was $206,355. In September 1960 there were 34 permits for $163,970.

After nine months, some 381 building permits have been issued this year or 68 more than the 313 of the same period last year. The total estimated cost of construction was $2,960,480 last year in nine months or $617,643 more than the $2,342,837 of this year.

The big reason why the total is lower this year is that the August 1960 figure included $950,000 for the LaVale Plaza Shopping Center which began operations in August of this year. There has been no comparable single permit this year.

For instance, in September of this year, the largest estimated cost was $28,000 for an L-shaped addition to the LaVale Drug Store at 1068 National Highway. Part of this brick addition will be 34 by 110 feet and the other portion is 36 by 53 feet in size.

Seventeen of the 42 permits last month were for new dwellings. Of the rest 11 were for garages, six for addition to dwellings, two for carports and one each for tool shed, sales room, garage and workshop, church, addition to cabin and addition to store.

Permits last month authorized work in 20 different election districts of the county. Districts 7, Cresaptown-Rawlings, and 16, North Branch, were the leaders with five each. Districts 29, LaVale, the usual leader, was third with four permits. Grouped together with three permits each were Districts 5, North End suburban; 6, West Side suburban, and 13, Mt. Savage. Five districts had two September permits each. They were Districts 2, Oldtown; 3, Flintstone; 21, Gross; 24, Eckhart, and 26, Frostburg suburban.

Nine other districts had one permit each last month. Included were Districts 8, Westernport suburban; 10, Lonaconing suburban; 12, Frostburg suburban; 17, Vale Summit; 20, Ellersllie-Corriganville; 22, East Side suburban; 23, East Side suburban; 30, Zihlman, and 31, McCoole.

The monthly totals for 1961:

January — nine permits for $49,525; February—four permits for $27,000; March—39 permits for $297,975; April—49 permits for $267,650; May—64 permits for $401,087; June—69 permits for $319,305; July — 53 permits for $448,725; August—52 permits for $325,215, and September—42 permits for $206,355.

Monthly totals for 1960:

January — seven permits for $39,750; February — 13 permits for $46,525; March — 21 permits for $222,850; April — 51 permits for $304,200; May — 47 permits for $235,695; June — 51 permits for $513,760; July — 54 permits for $348,240; August — 35 permits for $1,065,490, and September—34 permits for $163,970.

Parade To Mark Halloween Here

The annual Halloween parade and celebration will be held Tuesday, October 31, under the sponsorship of the South Cumberland Business and Civic Association.

The Mayor and Council yesterday granted permission for the celebration.

Lawrence I. Marks, president, said the event will begin at 7 p. m. and that the parade will be followed by the judging of games and contests.

He said it will be necessary to have Virginia Avenue between 2nd and 3rd streets blocked off after the parade.

Letter Writing Week Is Being Observed Here

The 24th annual Letter Writing Week will be observed this week in Cumberland, it was announced yesterday by Postmaster Thomas F. Conlon.

The Postmaster noted that a letter "is the most economical and personal way to extend greetings, communicate social news and exchange ideas."

During Letter Writing Week, October 1 to 7, he suggested that everyone write at least two letters, one to a friend or relative not heard from in a long time and the second as a reply to a friend or relative who has recently written. Postmaster Conlon also urged correspondence to people in other countries as a means of promoting greater understanding among the people of different nations.

The slogan of this year's event, as indicated on more than 200,000 banners, is "Letters are Links to Friendship." The display materials will appear on post office bulletin boards and rural carrier vehicles, as well as in various schools and libraries.

City Will Waive Permit Fee For Home Shelters

Used Car Lot Permit Approved

The Mayor and Council yesterday empowered the City Engineer to waive the fee for building permits issued for family fallout shelters here.

The order approved unanimously at yesterday's council meeting, points out that shelters must comply with provisions of the city's zoning laws.

Waiver of the fee was requested last week by Charles G. Smith, deputy director of Civil Defense for Allegany County, following a conference with City Engineer C. R. Nuzum.

Mr. Nuzum reported, in response to a query by the CD official, that under the present city code, permits for fallout shelters would be necessary, and would be subject to the usual fee of $2 for each $1,000 of construction cost.

In another action, the Mayor and Council approved the application of Joseph Robinette to open a used car lot at 824 North Mechanic Street.

The application has been approved by the Board of Zoning Appeals and the Police and Fire departments.

Free influenza vaccinations for city workers was also approved. The order points out the shots will be available to those who desire them, and that cost will be apportioned to the various departments.

September receipts of $685.89 were reported by City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery.

Income from the city scales totaled $446.80 between August 9 and September 11, Council was told.

229 Marriage Licenses Sold In September

September proved to be the third best month of 1961 for issuance of marriage licenses in the office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court as some 229 were distributed.

That total was 12 more than the 217 issued in September 1960. Only June and August this year had more than 229 licenses.

Last month's splurge brought the nine-month total to 1,799 marriage licenses or one more than in the corresponding period last year. During the first four months of 1961, marriage licenses were running behind the same month of last year. However, only July of the last five months failed to surpass the same month a year ago.

Monthly totals, with the 1960 figure listed first in each case:

January — 151 and 150; February — 149 and 141; March — 159 and 158; April — 175 and 168; May — 197 and 200; June — 268 and 273; July — 232 and 209; August — 250 and 271; September — 217 and 229.

Two Trials Due Today

Two criminal trials are scheduled today before Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris in Allegany County Circuit Court, the state's attorney's office said.

Garth Yonker will be tried for alleged perjury. On April 8, 1961, he was tried in Trial Magistrates Court in Westernport on a charge of operating a car on a suspended license. He was found not guilty. The state's attorney's office took an appeal indicating that the man's testimony was false while he was under oath.

In the other trial, Lloyd W. Jerrel, will be tried in connection with the breaking and entering and theft and receiving stolen goods at the Liller Asphalt Company.

He is reported to have taken a power chain saw valued at $187.50.

Informations on the two cases were filed yesterday in Circuit Court and the two men asked for an immediate trial.

Cardiac Massage Method To Be Explained Today

Taking the lead from the nation's larger medical centers, Sacred Heart Hospital will indoctrinate its nursing staff in the latest techniques of external cardiac massage today and tomorrow from 12 to 1 p.m. under the direction of Dr. Earl R. Paul, a member of the hospital's surgical staff, Sister Mary Richard, hospital administrator, announced last night.

Dr. Paul was a delegate for the Allegany-Garrett County Heart Association to the Closed Chest Cardiac Resuscitation for Physicians, a course given at Richmond, Va., this year. He will present lectures in connection with a film featuring Dr. Jude of Johns Hopkins University, originator of this type of heart massage, Sister Mary Richard said.

"Dr. Paul also will introduce emergency kits which will be placed in the emergency room, operating rooms and wards to make easier the handling of emergency cardiac cases," the administrator stated. "And he will set up an emergency plan for alerting teams of key people in the hospital to an existing emergency, having them all converge on one spot."

The cardioscope and defibrillator placed at Sacred Heart Hospital by County United Fund for the free use of all patients will also enter into the emergency plan, the administrator added.

With a plan such as that being instituted at Sacred Heart, Dr. Paul said, larger hospitals have found that they can save the lives of 46 per cent of all patients who are supposedly "dead on arrival" from heart conditions of various kinds.

Dr. Paul's scheduled lectures are another phase of the on-going educational program instituted at Sacred Heart Hospital, and officials of the heart association are hopeful that this pilot program in closed chest cardiac massage will be offered to other hospitals, dentists and possibly rescue squads in the area.

Grand Jury Hears 18 As Probe Opens

Judge Harris Gives Charge

Some 18 witnesses were heard by the October grand jury in Allegany County Circuit Court after the jurors received their charge from Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris.

The investigating body was dismissed shortly before 5 p. m. and will resume it investigation this morning. About 14 witnesses are scheduled to testify during the second day, a court attache said.

In his charge to the jurors, Judge Harris pointed out courts are a mockery under the communist form of government. "Appeals to justice are vain," the jurist said in referring to Communism, since there "is no such thing as freedom of speech, freedom of the press, freedom of worship, the right to work when, where and for whom you please, or the inherent right to establish a new industry or business."

"The preservation of these things," Judge Harris continued, "is worth all the sacrifice of wealth and of human life that may be required to maintain them. Otherwise, of what value is life?"

In reviewing the history of the grand jury system as it operates under democratic forms of government, Judge Harris explained a person accused 'has the right to have the grand jury pass upon his case, and your body stands as a bulwark against the danger of frivolous, false and malicious criminal charges against him."

The jurist stressed that to endure governments must be founded on justice, "as the sum of moral duty." He termed the instinct of moral justice as innate, "as much a part of our being as the sense of smell or touch."

Liberty is not based on expediency, but "is found on justice — justice to the accused as well as to the accuser; to the state, as well as to the defendant," Judge Harris informed the jurors.

"We stand tensely on the threshold of another and most fateful era," Judge Harris concluded, "may God give us the strength and the will to defend and maintain our liberties against all who trespass upon them" so that "Liberty shall not perish from the earth."

Carl O. Belt was sworn in as foreman of the grand jury, and John Brenneman as bailiff during its deliberations. The oaths were administered by Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Circuit Court.

After the jurors were excused to begin their deliberations Judge Harris and Associate Judge W. Earle Cobey called the criminal and civil dockets for this term of court.

Piedmont Moose Club Is Raided By Authorities

West Virginia State Police and police at Piedmont Sunday night raided the home of Piedmont Lodge 1120, Loyal Order of Moose on Lyons Street.

Authorities said they found a quantity of liquor and some gambling devices on the premises. Thomas Bryan, bartender, was arrested and later released under $500 bond, they said.

He will be given a hearing tomorrow at 10:30 a. m. before Justice of the Peace Madalyn Bazzle in Keyser.

The Columbia Club at Piedmont was also checked but nothing was found, authorities said.

Police Investigate Larceny Reports

Frank Schilling, rear of 428 North Centre Street, reported Saturday that a rear fender skirt valued at about $10 was taken from his car.

Judge Byrnes Is Conditional Candidate

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Judge Joseph R. Byrnes of Baltimore City made himself conditionally available Monday as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor.

His first stipulation is that Gov. Tawes will not be a candidate for reelection. The other is that Tawes and W. Preston Lane Jr., former Democratic governor, endorse him.

"If they thought it was a matter of civic duty for me to run, I would consider entering the race," said Byrnes, a former president of the State Senate.

The Byrnes statement focused attention on growing restlessness among Democratic politicians over failure of Gov. Tawes to reveal his plans.

Politicians professing to know are passing the word both ways — that he will run and that he won't.

The indecision is causing widespread jitters in Democratic ranks.

Some of them don't dare buck Tawes, but if he isn't going to be a candidate they want to jump on some other bandwagon.

At this stage, they are sending out a lot of feelers about candidates possibly agreeable to each other.

Byrnes is one of many names mentioned. If Tawes doesn't run, there will be a rash of others.

Friends of C. Ferdinand Sybert are putting forth his name just in case Tawes bows out after one term. Sybert had been a potential candidate until Tawes promoted him from Attorney General to the Court of Appeals.

Both Thomas B. Finan, Sybert's appointive successor, and Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein have backers. In fact, Goldstein might very well jump in the moment after Tawes says he would retire.

Reports persist that Circuit Judge Philip H. Dorsey Jr. of St. Marys County is all set to file in such an eventuality.

The Byrnes statement of conditions seemed to fit a lot of other potential candidates.

There already are four in the field — George P. Mahoney, David Hume, Morgan Amaimo and J. Tyson Lee.

Their early campaigning is one reason that Tawes has avoided announcing his candidacy, according to sources claiming to be close to him.

By staying officially out of the race, they reason Tawes is not obligated to answer any of their attacks on him until he is ready. Late this summer, those who insist they know Tawes will be a candidate reported he hoped to hold off until January.

Whether he can in the face of the mounting pressure from those would support him his problematical.

Some 10.45 acres of land located along the east slope of Polish Mountain on U. S. Route 40 was purchased from Roy S. Fletcher and his wife, Mattie Fletcher.

John H. Lindner of Schade's Lane, city, sold to the SRC property along U. S. Route 40 for the east approach to the Cumberland Thruway to relocated Maryland Route 395.

Lonaconing Officer Denies Duty Neglect

Refutes Charge At Council Session

Patrolman James W. Foote of Lonaconing appeared before the town's Mayor and Council last night and denied statements made at last week's meeting which publicly charged he had neglected his duty on several occasions.

Patrolman Foote said he felt he was unjustly criticized last week and that he had been unable to defend himself at the council meeting when the charges were made because he was attending the State Police Academy at Pikesville.

At last week's meeting of the town council' Mayor Virgil Alexander charged Patrolman Foote had stood by and did not exercise his full duty while several men were engaged in a fight. Mayor Alexander based his charge on reports by witnesses who said Patrolman Foote "had just stood by."

Witnesses Heard

Patrolman Foote said last night when he arrived at the scene of the fight he immediately took the two men into custody. Several witnesses last night verified Patrolman Foote's account of the incident. No one at last night's meeting other than the Mayor and several council members, said Patrolman Foote acted in a lax manner during the fight incident.

Commissioner James Berry said last week the officer should have deputized several me to assist him with the arrest the night of the fight. Patrolman Foote said two of the town's citizens did help him get the men to the jail. but the men involved in the fight were aware they were being arrested and did not offer any resistance.

Another charge which the officer contended was untrue was one which a council member stated a prisoner walked out of jail while Patrolman Foote was on duty.

Patrolman Foote said last night the prisoner was arrested yesterday in Westernport and at the present time was being held in the town jail.

Patrolman Foote said he questioned the prisoner yesterday in the presence of another town officer and a member of the State Police and the man said a stranger had come into the jail and left him out through a side door. The prisoner, who was in jail on a drunk charge, said he was put in a car by the unknown man and taken to the town's limits and let out.

Not On Duty Then

Patrolman Foote said he had been on duty early that evening, but had been relieved shortly before the prisoner walked out. Patrolman Foote said he had let the prisoner out of his cell earlier to make a phone call and did not lock the cell when the prisoner was returned. However, Patrolman Foote said another officer was on duty when he went home at supper time and the prisoner was not left while he was there.

The door through which the prisoner walked out is always kept locked and only certain town officials have keys, the council learned last night.

James S. Getty, town attorney, said he felt criticism of Patrolman Foote's work should have been made in a formal complaint to the Civil Service Board.

Alex E. Patton, police commissioner, said he had heard from reliable witnesses that Patrolman Foote had handled the fight incident in the best manner possible.

At the conclusion of last night's discussion on the police officer, one town citizen asked Mayor Alexander if a public apology could be made to Patrolman Foote. The mayor replied "No."

In other action at the meeting, the mayor and council approved a request by St. Peter's Episcopal Church to name a street in front of the church, "St. Peter's Place."

Also present at last night's meeting other than Mayor Alexander and Commissioners Berry and Patton, were Commissioners Harold W. Moyer and Benjamin E. Zarger.

Classification Plan Is Backed By City Board

The prompt adoption of a proposed new job classification and pay plan has been recommended by the Cumberland Civil Service Commission.

The recommendation was included in a letter from the board which was ordered filed at yesterday's meeting of the Mayor and Council.

Action is anticipated when an ordinance embodying proposed changes is presented for consideration of city officials.

The merit pay plan was prepared by Milton B. Millon, director of the Municipal Technical Advisory Service of the University of Maryland, based on job descriptions made for the city by the Department of Employment Security.

The commission also recommended that the Mayor and Council send a letter of thanks to Stephen C. Cromwell, executive director of the DES, and to Mr. Millon for the fine work done on "this worthwhile project."

Council referred to Finance Commissioner Lucile Roeder an application from S. Schwab Company, 900 Frederick Street, for a 10-year tax exemption for a recently completed addition to its factory.

The local, knitwear firm, through Leonard C. Schwab, said Allegany County has already granted such an exemption for the addition which cost over $10,000.

Bids for uniforms and a station wagon sought by the Police Department were opened.

Three firms bid for the 56 patrolman's uniforms sought. Metro Clothes, 25 Baltimore Street, bid $56.45 for each uniform; Joe Ottieri, 115 North Centre Street, $68.75, and Nationwide Clothiers, by OPO, 29 Baltimore Street, $98.50.

Station wagon bids were submitted by Gratton-Ford, Inc., for $2,319.54; Gurley, $2,481.36; McIntyre Chevrolet, $2,490, and Light and Decker, $2,507.

Bids were referred to Police Commissioner Philmore Fleming for tabulation and report.

County Building Shows Seasonal Tapering Signs

A tapering off in building permit activity was observed last month but September was still well ahead of the same month of 1960 in both the number of permits and estimated cost of construction.

In the month which ended Saturday, some 42 permits were issued in the office of James G. Stevenson, clerk to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, and the total estimated cost of construction was $206,355. In September 1960 there were 34 permits for $163,970.

After nine months, some 381 building permits have been issued this year or 68 more than the 313 of the same period last year. The total estimated cost of construction was $2,960,480 last year in nine months or $617,643 more than the $2,342,837 of this year.

The big reason why the total is lower this year is that the August 1960 figure included $950,000 for the LaVale Plaza Shopping Center which began operations in August of this year. There has been no comparable single permit this year.

For instance, in September of this year, the largest estimated cost was $28,000 for an L-shaped addition to the LaVale Drug Store at 1068 National Highway. Part of this brick addition will be 34 by 110 feet and the other portion is 36 by 53 feet in size.

Seventeen of the 42 permits last month were for new dwellings. Of the rest 11 were for garages, six for addition to dwellings, two for carports and one each for tool shed, sales room, garage and workshop, church, addition to cabin and addition to store.

Permits last month authorized work in 20 different election districts of the county. Districts 7, Cresaptown-Rawlings, and 16, North Branch, were the leaders with five each. Districts 29, LaVale, the usual leader, was third with four permits. Grouped together with three permits each were Districts 5, North End suburban; 6, West Side suburban, and 13, Mt. Savage. Five districts had two September permits each. They were Districts 2, Oldtown; 3, Flintstone; 21, Gross; 24, Eckhart, and 26, Frostburg suburban.

Nine other districts had one permit each last month. Included were Districts 8, Westernport suburban; 10, Lonaconing suburban; 12, Frostburg suburban; 17, Vale Summit; 20, Ellersllie-Corriganville; 22, East Side suburban; 23, East Side suburban; 30, Zihlman, and 31, McCoole.

The monthly totals for 1961:

January — nine permits for $49,525; February—four permits for $27,000; March—39 permits for $297,975; April—49 permits for $267,650; May—64 permits for $401,087; June—69 permits for $319,305; July — 53 permits for $448,725; August—52 permits for $325,215, and September—42 permits for $206,355.

Monthly totals for 1960:

January — seven permits for $39,750; February — 13 permits for $46,525; March — 21 permits for $222,850; April — 51 permits for $304,200; May — 47 permits for $235,695; June — 51 permits for $513,760; July — 54 permits for $348,240; August — 35 permits for $1,085,490, and September—34 permits for $163,970.

The 24th annual Letter Writing Week will be observed this week in Cumberland, it was announced yesterday by Postmaster Thomas F. Conlon.

The Postmaster noted that a letter "is the most economical and personal way to extend greetings, communicate social news and exchange ideas."

During Letter Writing Week, October 1 to 7, he suggested that everyone write at least two letters, one to a friend or relative not heard from in a long time and the second as a reply to a friend or relative who has recently written. Postmaster Conlon also urged correspondence to people in other countries as a means of promoting greater understanding among the people of different nations.

The slogan of this year's event, as indicated on more than 200,000 banners, is "Letters are Links to Friendship." The display materials will appear on post office bulletin boards and rural carrier vehicles, as well as in various schools and libraries.

City Will Waive Permit Fee For Home Shelters

Used Car Lot Permit Approved

The Mayor and Council yesterday empowered the City Engineer to waive the fee for building permits issued for family fallout shelters here.

The order approved unanimously at yesterday's council meeting, points out that shelters must comply with provisions of the city's zoning laws.

Waiver of the fee was requested last week by Charles G. Smith, deputy director of Civil Defense for Allegany County, following a conference with City Engineer C. R. Nuzum.

Mr. Nuzum reported, in response to a query by the CD official, that under the present city code, permits for fallout shelters would be necessary, and would be subject to the usual fee of $2 for each $1,000 of construction cost.

In another action, the Mayor and Council approved the application of Joseph Robinette to open a used car lot at 824 North Mechanic Street.

The application has been approved by the Board of Zoning Appeals and the Police and Fire departments.

Free influenza vaccinations for city workers was also approved. The order points out the shots will be available to those who desire them, and that cost will be apportioned to the various departments.

September receipts of $685.89 were reported by City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery.

Income from the city scales totaled $446.80 between August 9 and September 11, Council was told.

229 Marriage Licenses Sold In September

September proved to be the third best month of 1961 for issuance of marriage licenses in the office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court as some 229 were distributed.

That total was 12 more than the 217 issued in September 1960. Only June and August this year had more than 229 licenses.

Last month's splurge brought the nine-month total to 1,799 marriage licenses or one more than in the corresponding period last year. During the first four months of 1961, marriage licenses were running behind the same month of last year. However, only July of the last five months failed to surpass the same month a year ago.

Monthly totals, with the 1960 figure listed first in each case:

January — 151 and 150; February — 149 and 141; March — 159 and 158; April — 175 and 168; May — 197 and 200; June — 263 and 273; July — 232 and 209; August — 250 and 271; September — 217 and 229.

Two Trials Due Today

Two criminal trials are scheduled today before Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris in Allegany County Circuit Court, the state's attorney's office said.

Garth Yonker will be tried for alleged perjury. On April 8, 1961, he was tried in Trial Magistrates Court in Westernport on a charge of operating a car on a suspended license. He was found not guilty.

The state's attorney's office took an appeal indicating that the man's testimony was false while he was under oath.

In the other trial, Lloyd W. Jerrel, will be tried in connection with the breaking and entering and theft and receiving stolen goods at the Liller Asphalt Company.

He is reported to have taken a power chain saw valued at $187.50.

Informations on the two cases were filed yesterday in Circuit Court and the two men asked for an immediate trial.

Cardiac Massage Method To Be Explained Today

Taking the lead from the nation's larger medical centers, Sacred Heart Hospital will indoctrinate its nursing staff in the latest techniques of external cardiac massage today and tomorrow from 12 to 1 p.m. under the direction of Dr. Earl R. Paul, a member of the hospital's surgical staff, Sister Mary Richard, hospital administrator, announced last night.

Dr. Paul was a delegate for the Allegany-Garrett County Heart Association to the Closed Chest Cardiac Resuscitation for Physicians, a course given at Richmond, Va., this year. He will present lectures in connection with a film featuring Dr. Jude of Johns Hopkins University, originator of this type of heart massage, Sister Mary Richard said.

"Dr. Paul also will introduce emergency kits which will be placed in the emergency room, operating rooms and wards to make easier the handling of emergency cardiac cases," the administrator stated. "And he will set up an emergency plan for alerting teams of key people in the hospital to an existing emergency, having them all converge on one spot."

The cardioscope and defibrillator placed at Sacred Heart Hospital by County United Fund for the free use of all patients will also enter into the emergency plan, the administrator added.

With a plan such as that being instituted at Sacred Heart, Dr. Paul said, larger hospitals have found that they can save the lives of 46 per cent of all patients who are supposedly "dead on arrival" from heart conditions of various kinds.

Dr. Paul's scheduled lectures are another phase of the on-going educational program instituted at Sacred Heart Hospital, and officials of the heart association are hopeful that this pilot program in closed chest cardiac massage will be offered to other hospitals, dentists and possibly rescue squads in the area.

Grand Jury Hears 18 As Probe Opens

Judge Harris Gives Charge

Some 18 witnesses were heard by the October grand jury in Allegany County Circuit Court after the jurors received their charge from Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris.

The investigating body was dismissed shortly before 5 p. m. and will resume it investigation this morning. About 14 witnesses are scheduled to testify during the second day, a court attache said.

In his charge to the jurors, Judge Harris pointed out courts are a mockery under the communist form of government. "Appeals to justice are vain," the jurist said in referring to Communism, since there "is no such thing as freedom of speech, freedom of the press, freedom of worship, the right to work when, where and for whom you please, or the inherent right to establish a new industry or business."

"The preservation of these things," Judge Harris continued, "is worth all the sacrifice of wealth and of human life that may be required to maintain them. Otherwise, of what value is life?"

In reviewing the history of the grand jury system as it operates under democratic forms of government, Judge Harris explained a person accused 'has the right to have the grand jury pass upon his case, and your body stands as a bulwark against the danger of frivolous, false and malicious criminal charges against him."

The jurist stressed that to endure governments must be founded on justice, "as the sum of moral duty." He termed the instinct of moral justice as innate, "as much a part of our being as the sense of smell or touch."

Liberty is not based on expediency, but "is found on justice — justice to the accused as well as to the accuser; to the state, as well as to the defendant," Judge Harris informed the jurors.

"We stand tensely on the threshold of another and most fateful era," Judge Harris concluded, "may God give us the strength and the will to defend and maintain our liberties against all who trespass upon them" so that "Liberty shall not perish from the earth."

Carl O. Belt was sworn in as foreman of the grand jury, and John Brenneman as bailiff during its deliberations. The oaths were administered by Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Circuit Court.

After the jurors were excused to begin their deliberations Judge Harris and Associate Judge W. Earle Cobey called the criminal and civil dockets for this term of court.

Judge Byrnes Is Conditional Candidate

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Judge Joseph R. Byrnes of Baltimore City made himself conditionally available Monday as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor.

His first stipulation is that Gov. Tawes will not be a candidate for reelection. The other is that Tawes and W. Preston Lane Jr., former Democratic governor, endorse him.

"If they thought it was a matter of civic duty for me to run, I would consider entering the race," said Byrnes, a former president of the State Senate.

The Byrnes statement focused attention on growing restlessness among Democratic politicians over failure of Gov. Tawes to reveal his plans.

Politicians professing to know are passing the word both ways — that he will run and that he won't.

The indecision is causing widespread jitters in Democratic ranks.

Some of them don't dare buck Tawes, but if he isn't going to be a candidate they want to jump on some other bandwagon.

At this stage, they are sending out a lot of feelers about candidates possibly agreeable to each other.

Byrnes is one of many names mentioned. If Tawes doesn't run, there will be a rash of others.

Friends of C. Ferdinand Sybert are putting forth his name just in case Tawes bows out after one term. Sybert had been a potential candidate until Tawes promoted him from Attorney General to the Court of Appeals.

Both Thomas B. Finan, Sybert's appointive successor, and Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein have backers. In fact, Goldstein might very well jump in the moment after Tawes says he would retire.

Reports persist that Circuit Judge Philip H. Dorsey Jr. of St. Marys County is all set to file in such an eventuality.

The Byrnes statement of conditions seemed to fit a lot of other potential candidates.

There already are four in the field — George P. Mahoney, David Hume, Morgan Amaimo and J. Tyson Lee.

Their early campaigning is one reason that Tawes has avoided announcing his candidacy, according to sources claiming to be close to him.

By staying officially out of the race, they reason Tawes is not obligated to answer any of their attacks on him until he is ready. Late this summer, those who insist they know Tawes will be a candidate reported he hoped to hold off until January.

Whether he can in the face of the mounting pressure from those would support him his problematical.

Lonaconing Officer Denies Duty Neglect

Refutes Charge At Council Session

Patrolman James W. Foote of Lonaconing appeared before the town's Mayor and Council last night and denied statements made at last week's meeting which publicly charged he had neglected his duty on several occasions.

Patrolman Foote said he felt he was unjustly criticized last week and that he had been unable to defend himself at the council meeting when the charges were made because he was attending the State Police Academy at Pikesville.

At last week's meeting of the town council' Mayor Virgil Alexander charged Patrolman Foote had stood by and did not exercise his full duty while several men were engaged in a fight. Mayor Alexander based his charge on reports by witnesses who said Patrolman Foote "had just stood by."

Witnesses Heard

Patrolman Foote said last night when he arrived at the scene of the fight he immediately took the two men into custody. Several witnesses last night verified Patrolman Foote's account of the incident. No one at last night's meeting other than the Mayor and several council members, said Patrolman Foote acted in a lax manner during the fight incident.

Commissioner James Berry said last week the officer should have deputized several me to assist him with the arrest the night of the fight. Patrolman Foote said two of the town's citizens did help him get the men to the jail. but the men involved in the fight were aware they were being arrested and did not offer any resistance.

Another charge which the officer contended was untrue was one which a council member stated a prisoner walked out of jail while Patrolman Foote was on duty.

Patrolman Foote said last night the prisoner was arrested yesterday in Westernport and at the present time was being held in the town jail.

Patrolman Foote said he questioned the prisoner yesterday in the presence of another town officer and a member of the State Police and the man said a stranger had come into the jail and left him out through a side door. The prisoner, who was in jail on a drunk charge, said he was put in a car by the unknown man and taken to the town's limits and let out.

Not On Duty Then

Patrolman Foote said he had been on duty early that evening, but had been relieved shortly before the prisoner walked out. Patrolman Foote said he had let the prisoner out of his cell earlier to make a phone call and did not lock the cell when the prisoner was returned. However, Patrolman Foote said another officer was on duty when he went home at supper time and the prisoner was not left while he was there.

The door through which the prisoner walked out is always kept locked and only certain town officials have keys, the council learned last night.

James S. Getty, town attorney, said he felt criticism of Patrolman Foote's work should have been made in a formal complaint to the Civil Service Board.

Alex E. Patton, police commissioner, said he had heard from reliable witnesses that Patrolman Foote had handled the fight incident in the best manner possible.

At the conclusion of last night's discussion on the police officer, one town citizen asked Mayor Alexander if a public apology could be made to Patrolman Foote. The mayor replied "No."

In other action at the meeting, the mayor and council approved a request by St. Peter's Episcopal Church to name a street in front of the church, "St. Peter's Place."

Also present at last night's meeting other than Mayor Alexander and Commissioners Berry and Patton, were Commissioners Harold W. Moyer and Benjamin E. Zarger.
